HIGH FLYING STILL FAR OFF

Air Expert Foresees Difficulties Before Twelve-Hour
Dirigible Service to Germany Can Be Realized

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

AKRON (O.) March 23.—Twelve-hour air service between Hamburg and New York, the aim of a new Berlin aviation society investigating flying conditions in higher altitudes, is seen as a problem of interest, but with a solution far from early realization, by Dr. Karl Arnstein, dirigible expert and vice-president of the Goodyear Zeppelin Corporation here.

Berlin advices say the society known as "the Society for the Investigation of Aviation in High Altitudes" hopes to find a means of flying at an altitude of from six to seven miles. This, they say, would solve the problem of trans-oceanic aviation.

It is pointed out that in the lower atmospheric regions planes are seriously hampered by vertical squalls, fogs, thunder clouds and other atmospheric interferences which do not exist in the higher strata. Increased speed, as high, possibly, as 270 miles an hour, would be made possible, they believe.

CLOUDS RARE HIGH UP

Prof. Reinhard Suring, head of the Potsdam Observatory, one of the experts of the society, says his findings show a minimum of steam in the air at an altitude of three miles. Thunder clouds, he finds, are nonexistent above the seven and one-half mile level.

Dr. Arnstein, builder of the Los Angeles and ninety other dirigibles, foresees enormous increases in possible speed if flights at high levels can be realized. Discussing the Berlin dispatches, he said: "It is a fact that at an altitude of seven and one-half miles doubled speed for aircraft is possible, and is associated with the same lift in the air vehicle, the head resistance of the craft is not affected by the increase in speed because of the decrease in air density, but the power to maintain such a speed has to be doubled, too. The fuel consumption is unchanged."

But such advantages, Arnstein says, cannot be obtained without sacrifices in other ways.

NEW ENGINE IN WILKINS MONOPLANE

Landing Gear Delivered
Also for Alaskan, Smaller
Craft Damaged in Tests

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

FAIRBANKS, March 23.—A new engine has been installed in the Alaskan, the smaller of the two monoplanes, of the Detroit Arctic expedition damaged in test flights here last week. A light wind made the handling of the numerous bolts and nuts outdoors a finger-aching job, especially after a sudden drop in temperature.

The lagging gear, welded and strengthened, was delivered by the Samson Engineering Company. It will take some time to fit this and connect up the engine controls, but the Alaskan should be ready to fly again soon and to begin freighting gasoline supplies to Point Barrow, the base for the projected exploration by airplane of the unknown Arctic.

The driver of a tractor loaned by the Fairbanks Exploration Company to further clear the local landing field fell through the window of the cab of the machine yesterday and was cut by broken glass. He received prompt treatment from Dr. De la Vergne.

Tracks in Snow Furnish Clue to Canadian's Fate

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

STEWART (B. C.) March 23.—Only a half-mile of tracks in the snow, made by the bare feet of a man, furnish a clue to the possible fate of Peter B. Josephson of Stewart, missing since the 8th inst. Josephson is believed to have left his house while walking in his sleep. It was left unlocked, the key in the door.

Provincial Police Constable In-lip, with Fred Gun-A-Noot and Pete Morrison, Indian trackers, are searching the bush, river and country for miles around Stewart. One of the Indians discovered the footprints followed them half a mile, but lost them in snow that had fallen since Josephson disappeared.

Coal Discovered on Indian Lands at Fort Simpson

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

VANCOUVER (B. C.) March 23.—Excitement is running high among the Indians at Fort Simpson, B. C. as an outcropping of coal has been located on the reserve, with the result that there is not an inch of land in the whole region, but has been staked and registered.

No mining has taken place, but the Indians who first found the outcrop is striving away small pieces of coal as souvenirs of the find, while on the property he has started a small fire which maintains day and night by burning coal from the new diggings.

RESTRICTIONS LIFTED FOR MEXICAN BUYERS

MERCHANTS RELIEVED OF
MANY FORMALITIES IN REACHING EL PASO STORES

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

EL PASO (TEX.) March 23.—Mexican merchants wishing to come to El Paso to buy goods for their stores will be permitted to enter this port in the future without having to go through the formality of obtaining a clearance, the payment of headtax and other technical requirements for the immigrant clearing for the interior.

This was announced by the Juarez Chamber of Commerce and will be effective the 30th inst. In the past many Mexican merchants, some of whom were of foreign birth and could not enter the United States because the quota requirements of their country had been filled, were refused admission without clearing in the regular way. As a result, Mexicans went to San Antonio and other border ports where they secured the restrictions were not so stringent. This has been remedied and these temporary immigrants will be given certification cards permitting them to cross the American side, do their buying and return to Mexico without other formalities than to register at the immigration station.

Berlenbach Return Bout is Held Up

NEW YORK, March 23.—Although the State Athletic Commission at its meeting today decided to "think it over for a week" before taking any action on a contemplated return bout between P. A. L. Berlenbach and Johnny Risko, it was apparent to those who sat in that the board is averse to allowing the famed Astoria (Long Island) assassin to fight outside of the 175-pound division, over which he rules supreme.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—Both Pop Warner of Stanford and Nibs Price of California are inclined to pass up the new football rule with regard to passing as unnecessary and without effect. According to Coach Warner the new ruling means the target at which it was aimed. Their statements follow:

ST. PETERSBURG, March 23.—Bobby Cruickshank, undefeated professional, led the field today for the first thirty-six holes in the Florida west coast open golf championship with a card of 68-73-140. Rain during most of the day made the going difficult, but the players stuck to it.

HELEN WILLS'S TENNIS TILT AT CANNES RAINED OUT AGAIN

CANNES (France) March 23.—For the second successive time rain today prevented the playing of the finals match in the women's singles of the Cannes tennis tournament between Miss Helen Wills and Miss Joan Ridley of England. If the rain continues tomorrow this match probably will remain unplayed. The American champion announced tonight she intends to leave for Italy Thursday morning, while Miss Ridley expects to depart for London tomorrow night.

ULTIMATUM IS GIVEN STECHER

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
NEW YORK, March 23.—Joe Stecher, who recently declined to defend his claim to the world's heavyweight wrestling championship against Joe Malowick, today was ordered to oppose the Utica (N. Y.) grappler by the New York State Athletic Commission.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER, BILL HENRY

WHAT about this new forward-pass rule? That's what a lot of people are going to wonder. Apparently the coaches have begun to wonder about it already. The ruling seems to add a certain amount of favor and a great deal of disfavor. However, before going further into the matter, let us see what the change is. As we gather it from the press, the new rule provides a five-yard penalty for every incomplete pass after the first one in a series of four downs. For instance, if a team which is somewhat desperate attempts three forward passes in a row unsuccessfully, and then kicks on the fourth down instead of simply wasting time as has been the case in the past, the first incomplete pass is allowed without penalty, but the second and third incomplete passes will result in a five-yard penalty apiece, so that the kicker will have to boot from ten yards farther back than would have been the case under the old rule.

HELEN WILLS'S TENNIS TILT AT CANNES RAINED OUT AGAIN

CANNES (France) March 23.—For the second successive time rain today prevented the playing of the finals match in the women's singles of the Cannes tennis tournament between Miss Helen Wills and Miss Joan Ridley of England. If the rain continues tomorrow this match probably will remain unplayed. The American champion announced tonight she intends to leave for Italy Thursday morning, while Miss Ridley expects to depart for London tomorrow night.

NEW YORK, March 23.—Although the State Athletic Commission at its meeting today decided to "think it over for a week" before taking any action on a contemplated return bout between P. A. L. Berlenbach and Johnny Risko, it was apparent to those who sat in that the board is averse to allowing the famed Astoria (Long Island) assassin to fight outside of the 175-pound division, over which he rules supreme.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—Both Pop Warner of Stanford and Nibs Price of California are inclined to pass up the new football rule with regard to passing as unnecessary and without effect. According to Coach Warner the new ruling means the target at which it was aimed. Their statements follow:

Bill Wrigley Favors Reinstatement of Jimmy O'Connell in Major Loop

LANDIS UPHELD BY CUB OWNER

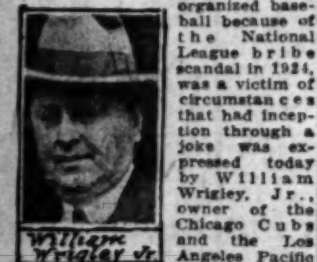

Sees Outfielder as Victim of Circumstances

Blames Cozy Dolan as Cause by Practical Joke

Does Not Expect to See Judge Reinstated Player

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—Beller that Jimmy O'Connell, former New York Giant outfielder, was a victim of circumstances that had inception through a joke was expressed today by William Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs and the Los Angeles Pacific Coast League team.

But at the same time Mr. Wrigley stated emphatically that under the circumstances Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball commissioner, had no alternative but to bar O'Connell from further play.

O'Connell was the principal figure in the attempted bribery of Heinie Sands, shortstop for the Philadelphia National League team. The Giants and Philadelphia were playing a critical series near the close of the season and the plot, as disclosed later in hearings, was to have some players on the latter team "throw" one or more games to the opposing side. During the hearing O'Connell testified that "Cozy" Dolan, a coach for the Giants, had put him up to approaching Heinie Sands.

"I believe that O'Connell was innocent of any wrongdoing in the attempt to bribe Heinie Sands at the close of the 1933 baseball season, and if I were doing it I would certainly give O'Connell another chance," Wrigley said.

"The whole thing, in my opinion, was a rather crude practical joke on the part of 'Cozy' Dolan. I know Dolan well—he played for me once—and I know the crude type of horseplay he revels in. He figured O'Connell for a kid and a boob and thought he was putting over a very clever joke, never dreaming that any investigation would come of it."

"For one thing, there was no need for the Giants to try and buy the game; they had it clinched. And for another, why try to bribe a shortstop? He has few chances to effect the winning or losing of a game."

"It was all a terribly crude joke on Dolan's part. He always was full of that sort of thing. Basically there was nothing wrong. I suppose, however, that Judge Landis feels that if he gives O'Connell another chance that it would establish a dangerous precedent."

RABBIT PUNCHES

by PAUL LOWRY

WE ARE glad to note that Lou Daro has taken our tip and decided to start his wrestling shows half an hour earlier, thereby enabling the boys who put up their do-rums to get away by 11 o'clock, at the latest. Nobody will be more grateful for the change than the scribes, who have been hard put to make certain editions of their papers when the shows lasted until 11:30 or 12 o'clock.

With the next show, which seems to be an affair between World's Heavyweight Champion Joe Stecher and George Kotonarow, Daro is going back to Wednesday night stands instead of Monday. He will alternate with the boxing shows, thereby furnishing entertainment at the big downtown arena every week instead of having both the boxing and wrestling bills all in the same week.

From newspaper clippings we have gleaned enough to believe the Stechers, Joe and brother Tony, his manager, were just a little too fast for the referee who tried to job Joe out of his world's title in Boston recently. Joe's guarantee was to have been paid him in the ring, but when the dough was not forthcoming and opponents and the referee were shifted one minute before the bout Joe and his brother Tony decided the ring was no place for them, and they beat it.

Later, it was announced Joe had forfeited his claim to the heavyweight title to Joe Malcewicz, who, sitting at the ringside in his street clothes, jumped into the ring when Brother left and stripped to fight. The attempt to job Stecher is perfectly clear when it is realized that Malcewicz has been beaten by the champion half a dozen times. Brother Tony's remarks on the affair are interesting: "What makes me so mad is that those city slickers up there in Boston thought they could job us, a couple of wise farmers from Nebraska. Of course, somebody is going to take Joe's title sometime, but they ain't going to steal it. With that shine referee we wouldn't have had the chance of a half wit in a chess championship."

It sort of revived memories of my old high jumping days to see Hampton of the University of California leaping in the old scissors form against the U.S.C. jumpers at the Coliseum last Saturday. Probably every kid that started high jumping began with the scissors form. And until Horine of Stanford and Brown of California introduced the roll every coach used to teach the candidates to the front. That was because Mike Sweeney, who for years held the record at 55-8 in, jumped from the front, and the coaches argued that because it was medicine for him it should be medicine for everybody.

In a way Hampton's form reminds me of Manager, the old Pomona star. He did his leaping from a side run, but had a sort of kick with his right leg that removed his feet from proximity to the bar. Hampton has almost the same kick, although not quite so snappily done.

TIA JUANA RACE TRACK, March 23.—With Jockey Menden in the saddle, Freya, owned by J. C. Rooster II finished a half length back for the place, with Kingman close behind for third.

Trainer Miller Henderson of the Audley Stock Farm stable, of which Princess Doreen is a member, announced this afternoon that he had received word from Earle Sande that the latter would arrive at Tia Juana tomorrow afternoon at the Biltmore Handicap.

Sunper and Elector, owned by the La Brea stable, will not start in the Cofroth, according to word received today. Sunper is reported to have broken down in the Cofroth preliminary handicap last Sunday. Elector spread a hoof in his last start.

Tangara, another of the eighth starters, was eliminated from the line-up today when it was learned that his owner had decided not to ship him west. Tangara ran a poor race in his last start in New

W. W. Campbell, who has been a member of the Annandale club since 1910, and Mrs. G. M. Lewis, who has been a member since 1915, will start the titleward flight at Beverly.

HERSEY COPS POTERO MEDAL AT SAN GABRIEL

STANFORD NINE

succeeding two innings, when Stanford fell on him for a total of seven runs.

But with Powers warming up on the sidelines, Stanford snapped out of it and retired the cards without commotion until the ninth, when he saved his own game by backing up third base and spearing a wild throw from the right field line.

Then, in the last half of the ninth, Stanford's pitcher, who was running on working Sobelesky for a walk.

Stanford's cry of six runs in the fourth inning resulted from two bases on balls, a fielder's choice and a successful hit by Waverly Clark, Johnston and Cypher. Two of these were doubles down the right field line, each scoring two men.

Occidental surprised Stanford in the field and at bat, but for Stanford's winning effort, would have won by much larger score. Stanford excelled behind the bat, where Cypher displayed ability as a receiver and an excellent whiff to second. The score:

Occidental: 6 hits, 18 errors, 2. Stanford: 7 hits, 6 errors, 2. Batteries—Occidental: Teachent and Herbst; Stanford: Sobelesky and Cypher.

Pioneer Net Team Defeats Bulldog Squad
Coach Vincent Post's Los Angeles High School tennis team played host to the Pasadena Bulldogs yesterday afternoon, and after a series of matches had been played the invading team found themselves on the short end of a 3-1-2 count.

Capt. Jack Phillips started things off for the Romans when he trimmed Ramauer by the convincing score of 7-5, 7-5. Dodge, Orsaby and Baines, all of Pasadena, proved too good for the Roman singles players, and the result favored these artists by easy scores. In the doubles event Phillips, paired with Bennett, grabbed four points for the Pioneer aggression and incidentally saved the Williams institution from the taste of defeat, for the duo took Ramauer and Dodge into camp 6-1, 6-2. Second doubles were postponed because of darkness.

The results of the contest yesterday afternoon follow:
Singles—Phillips (L.A.) defeated Ramauer (P.) 7-5, 7-5; Orsaby (P.) defeated Dodge (L.A.) 6-1, 6-2; Baines (P.) defeated Bennett (L.A.) 6-1, 6-2; Bennett (L.A.) defeated Phillips (P.) 6-1, 6-2; Bennett (L.A.) defeated Phillips (P.) 6-1, 6-2.

NEW CLUB FORMING AT PORTERVILLE
Members of the Monarchs Golf and Country Club of Porterville will have a clubhouse at their course east of here if present plans are realized. Discussion of clubhouse possibilities formed one of the principal subjects of interest at the annual meeting held at the Elks Club. A committee was authorized to prepare building plans and specifications and to investigate the cost of the project.

Mrs. W. A. Two beautiful trophies, in many cases, are to be won by the club by James Playfair of Ontario, Can., will be offered.

CLINEDIST LEADING IN ANNANDALE PLAY
F. H. Clinedist defeated K. E. Van Kuren 4 and 2 in the President's Cup tourney at Annandale yesterday and will play J. H. Victor, who defeated W. B. Tait, 1 up, in a semi-final match today.

F. E. Chaffee defeated L. L. Cook, 4 and 3, and will meet W. P. Kester, who defeated P. S. Smith, 3 and 4, in the other semifinals clash.

HOOD RETURNS TO ANGEL FOLD
cut hustles to beat or even equal Doug Tait is still another near-sister, but may be farmed.

The nearly lost outfielder is ready for regular hard work, having drawn a salary all winter playing in semi-pro ranks.

Krug and Stais are worried about home running, about his own and the boss about that of all of the players. He considers it a weak spot of the Angels.

Yesterday the Yanknigs scored twice while the regulars were showing them how it is done by crossing the rubber with eleven runs. Ray Jacobs poked one over the fence by way of mixing up for his recent loafing at the plate.

Earl Hamilton, Aydelotte, Glasner and Yanknigs did the mound work during the practice tilt. Hamilton worked in spite of a sore hurling arm, but took it pretty easily.

STECHER DODGES DATE HERE WITH GEORG KOTSONAROS

An argument with the champion over terms for the proposed bout between World's Champion Joe Stecher and George Kotsonaros at the Olympic Auditorium on April 7, yesterday convinced Promoter Lou Daro that he is going to experience much trouble in completing the match.

Tony Stecher, brother-manager of the champion, conferred with Daro over the long-distance telephone from New York. He rejected the first financial offer made by Daro for the bout with Kotsonaros.

It appears that the champion and his brother were somewhat surprised to learn that the local promoter had selected George Kotsonaros as the opponent in the forthcoming match. Stecher defended his title here next month and left the question of his opponent to Daro, evidently expecting that Jim London would be the selection.

Lincoln Wins Easily From Belmont Team

Lincoln High School, with a bye in the regular City League schedule yesterday, took on the Belmont High cinder squad, and won an easy victory 7 to 3. The Belmont out-let took three first places, and two second Junior City League records resulted. Phil Pearson scooted the victory in 11.1, according to the timers, while McNeil drew to a new mark in the quarter.

Falmerhelm elevated to a 5 ft. 11 in. victory in the high jump to Belmont. Pearson and Harrison and Jones of Lincoln all tied for first place for Belmont.

Coach Dean Cromwell's freshman track team journeyed to Santa Ana yesterday afternoon and well-nigh annihilated the Santa Ana Junior College team, winning 54 to 38. It was a really planned victory, the opposition should comprise both the Junior College and high school squad of that city, but Coach Scott chose to allow only two of his prospects to perform, to these going in the javelin event, and placing first.

Charlie Borah and Herschell Bonham divided honors for the winners events, winning two first places, while Jack Williams cleared 18 feet in the pole vault with ease and dispatch for an added attraction.

Uzudun Whips English Boxer in One Round

PARIS, March 23.—Paolino Uzudun, the Spanish heavyweight pugilist, knocked out Harry Drake, English heavyweight, tonight, after one minute and twenty-five seconds of fighting.

Drake put up a miserable performance, although pronounced fit physically by physicians. They had made an examination of his heart at the instance of Henri Bernstein, the noted referee, who had refused to officiate on the ground that Drake suffered from a weak heart.

Tonight 8000 spectators, gathered in the Cirque de Paris, freely gave vent to their opinion that the English heavyweight was almost entirely without heart. The crowd cheered Bernstein while they pelted the ring with all kinds of missiles.

Drake behaved like one suffering from palsy and hardly laid a glove on Paolino, who was very deliberate in putting his opponent to sleep.

It was explained later that Drake had never recovered from numerous knockouts while acting as sparring partner for Jack Dempsey in the two weeks' exhibitions in Germany last year.

MERCURY BALL CLUB DEFEATS POET NINE

TROJAN FROSH DEFEAT SAINTS

Yearlings Down Santa Ana in Trackfest, 84-38

Vauter Scores Double Win for Defeated Cinderites

Coach Dean Cromwell's freshman track team journeyed to Santa Ana yesterday afternoon and well-nigh annihilated the Santa Ana Junior College team, winning 54 to 38. It was a really planned victory, the opposition should comprise both the Junior College and high school squad of that city, but Coach Scott chose to allow only two of his prospects to perform, to these going in the javelin event, and placing first.

Charlie Borah and Herschell Bonham divided honors for the winners events, winning two first places, while Jack Williams cleared 18 feet in the pole vault with ease and dispatch for an added attraction.

BURNING UP
Borah is undoubtedly one of the fastest sprinters in Southern California right now. He would give Murray Schultz, the Caltech flyer, and Ed House of the Trojan variety, plenty of competition in the 100 yard race, and what he could do against House in the 220 yard race is a matter of conjecture. He won the century in 10.1 flat, and the 220 in 23.4, and was never out of pace faster than a common, ordinary lope. Had he chosen, or had he needed to, he could have cleared 100 in the 100, and possibly would have bettered 22.4 in the 220.

Bonham won both high and low hurdles events as usual, and continues to be among the high-point winners on the squad. Vauter, the classy Santa Ana distance man, won both the half and the mile races. Ed Gloege, Trojan half miler, tried the quarter and won in 51.3.

Jack Williams, who holds the world's prep-school pole vault record of 15 ft. 11 in., cleared victory at 11 ft. 6 in. and then, just to prove he was in the best form, cleared 12 ft. 11 in. in the 100, and finally 13 ft. with ease. Only the fact that his pole was badly cracked, and there were no other suitable ones at hand, prevented him from trying other dizzy heights. Hal Ramsay surprised by defeating Al Bowen in the high jump, at 5 ft. 7 in.

MALONE MINUS OPPONENT CAVALRY

Moore or Everett Strong May Bat for Nelson at Hollywood Legion Stadium Friday Night

Manager Tom Gallery stated last night that he would have an opponent for Jack Malone this morning. "Rough-houser" Nelson of Arizona broke his hand and was forced to cancel the fight with Malone at the Hollywood Legion stadium next Friday night. Gallery has in mind Ted Moore or Everett Strong.

As an added attraction Bill McKechnie, manager of the world's champion Pittsburgh Pirates, will be an honored guest. He will be presented with a wrist watch by Hollywood Post, No. 43, of the American Legion. Other members of the Pittsburgh club will attend the fight.

Jack Malone is going to try and stop whoever he fights Friday night. He claims he will stop Moore or even Strong should they get together, and as the Hollywood light fan craves knockouts, there should be a big turnout.

Billy Adams, who fights Eddie Diggs in the semi-wind-up, may prove to be a sensation. Two weeks ago he stopped Frankie McCann, a very good fighter. Adams makes his Southern California debut to a Hollywood audience. His best boast is that he is like Johnny Adams in action. If he is like Tom Gallery has another sensational fighter.

SPARTAN TRACK TEAM MEETS COMPTON MEN

Another skirmish which will tend to narrow down the field of contestants for the Bay League track championship will be held this afternoon on the Huntington Park oval when the strong Spartan tracksters engage Compton High tracksters in a dual clash. The Spartans were unexpectedly bowled over recently by Inglewood, making the latter school with San Pedro, and Compton close bidders for the circuit prize purse fight for first place in the high jump.

FATOR AND KUMMER MAY BE RULED OUT

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
NEW YORK, March 23.—Applications for licenses of jockeys L. M. Fator and Clarence Kummer were laid on the table today by the stewards of the jockey club. This action will bar them from the New York State track unless favorable action is taken at a meeting just before the season starts.

VENICE TRACK SQUAD BEATS SAMOHI TEAM

The Santa Monica High School track team was defeated 61 to 53 on the track by the Venice High School squad yesterday afternoon. The Gondoliers made a clean sweep and should have won the relay, but for an accident to one of the runners. Albert Hawley starred for the winners by winning the broad jump and low hurdles besides trying for first place in the high jump.

Pirates Hook Up With Shell Oil Nine in First Game of Local Diamond Appearance

KREMER NAMED TO HURL FOR WORLD CHAMPIONS

Title Holders Meet Local Nine on Signal Hill Diamond; Waner, Rhyme Play for Majors

The turbulent Pittsburgh Pirates, champions of the baseball world, invade this more or less peaceful territory tomorrow afternoon, crossing bats and base hits with the Shell Oil nine at the Signal Hill Park. Following this auspicious start, the Pirates will later engage both the Los Angeles and Hollywood Coast League clubs.

According to the most authentic and reliable reports, Art Kremer, hero, or rather one of the heroes, of the recent world's series, is scheduled to take the mound against the Oilers. Arthur will be eminently recalled to the minds of numerous Coast League fans as being a twirler of some repute with the Oakland ball club a few years back. The success that Art has enjoyed with the jolly Buccaneers has been pleasing to the above said of mediocrity, and if he can display his best form tomorrow, the Oilers might do well to consider themselves in for a right merry trimming.

William (Big) Felster, astute manager of the aspiring Oiler squad, is the recipient of a telegram from poppy Barney Dreyfus of the Pirates, in which it was stated that Kremer would replace Lee Meadows, respected hurler who had previously been selected as the probable hurler. Two other Coast Leaguers of some attraction are to appear in the line-up, these being Hal Rhyme and Paul Waner, late of San Francisco, who will replace Eddie Moore and Max Carey at second base and center field, respectively.

STARS TO PLAY

Otherwise the Pirate line-up will be the same as that which accompanied its way to victory over the Washington Senators last season. Which, of course, includes the more or less immortal "Rik" Cuyler, who blasted several lengthy home hits during the course of the proceedings; Glenn Wright, Pie Traynor, etc., etc., etc.

Some extremely healthy opposition is in store for the visitors. The all team will not only include the majority of its regular line-up that was sparkling profusely during the recently concluded winter season, but will also boast a new addition to the starting line-up, with others prominent at various stages during the game.

INDIANS TO OPPOSE

Red Hadden, the Cavewalker, Brick Edred and Babe Twombly are the Indians who will start, performing in the customary positions as catcher, short and outfielders. John Millar, Bob Hooley and Herb Street, trio of Indian hurlers will be on hand to take up the pitching burden if necessary. Cave, nicknamed "Pug" is to start in the box. This pugacious individual had a tryout with the Cubs last year and on one occasion in a practice game, is reported to have held the Pirates most admirably. He is a southpaw from Atlanta, and the leading Oiler twirler at present.

Long Beach has rallied nobly, and has prepared an entertainment and welcome suitable to the arrival of such royalty. The Elks and numerous civic organizations, with the Shell hand thrown in for good measure, will perform.

PIRATE REGULARS SLAUGHTER GOOFS

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

PALO BORLES, March 23.—The Pirate regulars slaughtered the offerings of Pitchers Phil Morrison and Joe Brown in the camp game here today, getting a total of four runs, which, coupled with the numerous errors, netted them fifteen tallies. The Yankigans got just two runs and eight hits from the assortment Aldridge and Meadows tossed over the pan. With the cushions clogged in the third frame, Haas Cuyler developed one to deep center for a homer and four runs were registered. Two more came in the sixth on a walk and singles by Rhyme and Cuyler. Three markers were amassed in the seventh on one hit and four errors. Then in the eighth, just for good measure, the regulars added a half-dozen more to their string on five hits and an error.

SWIM TITLES AT STAKE

L.A.A.C. Stages Finals in Three Championship Events and One Preliminary Tonight

The spot light of sportdom will center on the Los Angeles Athletic Club tonight. One senior national swimming championship, two Southern Pacific Association championships and one handicap event will be contested. The events to be decided are, women's national senior water polo championship, men's S. P. A. 400-yard relay championship, men's 220-yard freestyle championship and the men's handicap diving affair from the ten-foot board.

Interest will concentrate on the women's water polo championship. Three teams were entered, which necessitated drawings. Hollywood drew the bye, leaving it up to Venice and the Los Angeles Athletic Club to fight it out for the right to meet them tomorrow night.

Fred Cassidy's athletic club team should have little trouble defeating its opponents tonight. Cassidy has developed one of the smoothest working teams ever known in aquatic circles. The other aggregation boasts of a galaxy of stars, but whether they have been able to evolve the perfect co-ordination of teamwork that is essential to water polo is questionable. Venice, according to the "dope," has a much stronger group than Hollywood.

FUENTE KAYOED BY HUFFMAN

Fuente came to life in the third with a bang. He knocked Hoffman into the ropes with lefts and rights to the head. He was boxing beautifully, using his feet to good advantage and snapping back Hoffman's head with straight lefts. The Mexican had a big margin on the head.

In the fourth Hoffman began working on Fuente as he came out of the clinches, catching him with damaging left hooks to the head. Fuente appeared to be in bad condition and unable to absorb punches which a more rugged fighter would have brushed off. Hoffman followed up his advantage and milled in with rights and lefts to the head. Fuente was hanging on at the bell.

LEADS IN FIFTH

Huffman was leading in the fifth round when Fuente started a rush. Hoffman laced out with his left and landed almost simultaneously with a crashing right. That was all.

The semi-wind-up furnished a dramatic ending. Frankie Monahan, knocked silly with a punch, reeled half-way across the ring and hunched into the corner of the ring with his hands down. Referee Frank Holbrook stepped in and declared Everett Strong the winner by virtue of a technical knockout. This happened in the sixth round. Monahan was on his feet but helpless. He rushed forward, however, to continue the fight after Holbrook's decision.

The other bouts resulted as follows: Paul Duarte won from Johnny Celnars on a foul in the fourth round; Joe Garcia defeated Danny McCoy, and Tony Cruz and Joe Comby fought to a draw.

FUENTE SERVED IN DAMAGE SUIT

Tony Fuente, Mexican ring star, was made defendant in a suit for $10,000 damages yesterday a few hours before his encounter with Eddie Hoffman at the Vernon arena.

The suit was filed on behalf of Russell Cater, 5 years of age. It is charged that Fuente, driving his car in a negligent manner, ran down and injured the boy on February 1, last, at the intersection of Temple and Olive streets.

PORTLAND BEAVERS CRUSH ROYAL GIANTS

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

SAN JOSE, March 23.—The Portland Beavers scored their first victory in four games over the Philadelphia Royal Colored Giants here this afternoon, 3 to 1. Payne and Meeker worked for the Beavers and held the Giants to five hits, which netted but a single run. The colored boys had an off-day in the field, making five errors. Three were chalked up against Allen, shortstop.

The score:
Portland 3; hits, 5; errors, 0.
Giants 1; hits, 8; errors, 5.
Payne, Meeker and Berry; Curry, Hogan and Mackay.

LA BARBA BEARS BUT ONE SCAR FROM RING CONFLICTS

Fidel La Barba, world's flyweight champion, who meets Clever Sencio in a return match at the Olympic Auditorium a week from tonight, has hardly a mark to testify to his many engagements in the ring.

Although Fidel has fought every boy of any class in his division, going up from the amateur ranks through to the world's championship, his only mark is a slight cut over one eyebrow.

This cut was opened by Young Nationalista about a year ago, and was not disturbed again until the first La Barba-Sencio conflict last January, when the Filipino reopened it.

Fidel hasn't a cauliflower ear or broken nose or any of the scars that one associates with the manly art of sock and block.

Unless all signs are mistaken, Fidel is headed for the most serious engagement of his career in his second match with Sencio. It should be far more dangerous than the first bout, or the title affair in which La Barba wrestled the crown from Frankie Genaro in a one-sided conflict.

Final Clash Tomorrow for Hockey Title

The finals in the play-off series of the California Hockey Association will begin tomorrow night, when the Culver club meets the Palms de Glace at the Glaciar Ice Palace in the first of the two games which will decide the league championship.

The charging Culver squad, which sprang the surprise of the season by defeating the Richmond Oil Athletic Club squad by 18 goals to 7 in their two-game series, will be on its home ice at the Glaciar Palace.

Lloyd Cook and Ernie Johnson have proved lovers of strength on defense, while Broadfoot has been a sensation at goal. The Culver substitutes, Oakley, Duggan and Baker, have likewise played up in top form.

The game will be called at 8:30 p.m.

Second Place Honors Up in Soccer Clash

The drive of the Vikings to finish as runner-up in the Los Angeles Soccer League will be given its severest test Sunday afternoon when the Norsemen meet the champion Mercuries in the feature game of the customary double-header at Loyola Field.

The Vikings are being picked to win, although it is expected that the champs will field their strongest eleven. The recent form of the Vikings has demonstrated that failure to get going early in the season probably cost them the pennant.

Preliminary to the main event, the Hollywood Athletic Club team plays the Thistles. This contest starts at 1 p.m. Hollywood is regarded as the likely winner.

FOUR STAR BOUTS

High-Class Boxing Program Lined Up at Hollywood Athletic Club Sunday

Tonight is the "big night" at the Hollywood Athletic Club, when the most members of the club have made a reservation to see a boxing show, that has the air marks of a great show and a show that any high-class boxing show in the city would be proud to have.

The program includes four main events, from heavyweights down to bantams. Seven boxing bouts and two wrestling matches are down for the evening, besides some high-class vaudeville music.

In the first main event Bob Howard and Tom Gaffney have signed two heavyweights, Elmer Hansen and Jack Johnson.

Frankie Brown and Jimmy Flinn, two of the best 135-pounders on the Coast, tangle in the second top spot. This bout should keep the fans on their feet. Pat McGill, the Coast's middleweight champion, and Jack Mardcap mix in the third main event.

The last headline will find a newcomer, Dave Schmets, and Benny Cohen in the ring. Schmets, a former professional, has won the title of the Pacific Coast champion in the 125-pound class.

ELEANOR TENNANT NOW

Miss Eleanor Tennant, third ranking Pacific Coast star, has entered the field of professional tennis for the second time in a period of five years, she announced yesterday.

Previous to the year 1925 Miss Tennant entered professional ranks, devoting her time to the Beverly Hills Hotel, where she gave exclusive lessons for beginners. However, she was reinstated to amateur ranks at the start of the 1926 season and, making a trip the professional circuit, she continued to play for several seasons.

In the 1925 tour she won the event in both singles and doubles in the latter event she defeated Helen Baker of the Los Angeles Hotel Huntington. This was her last professional tour, as she was not permitted to play in the 1926 tour. The Beverly Hills Hotel Huntington at the start of the 1926 season and, making a trip the professional circuit, she continued to play for several seasons.

RATE BILL ROW WAXING TORRID

Senators Gooding and Fess Shatter Chamber Calm

Final Vote on Haul Measure Due This Afternoon

Charges of Lobbying Again Hurlled at Rail Chiefs

(BY A. P. MONT WIRE)

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The usual peace and decorum of the Senate were shattered for an hour today by a battle of statistics, ranging from steel to land.

The Gooding long-and-short-haul bill, which comes to a final vote at 3 p.m. tomorrow, provided the motif, with Senator Gooding, Republican, of Idaho, proposer, and Senator Fess, Republican, of Ohio, opponent, supplying the oral fireworks and impassioned gestures.

With only a frail Senate desk between them, Senator Gooding waved his arms and pointed with his fist, assailing as "bazaar" the "railroad lobby" that is trying to defeat the measure, while Senator Fess, gesturing excitedly with a sheet of paper, cried, "The Senator can't get anywhere here by impugning the motives of Senators."

BOTH SHOUT AT ONCE

At times both shouted at once, and from out of the water came pleas of each to "wait a minute" and fervent assertions of untruth and unfairness.

The fuse that set off these explosions was furnished by Senator Gooding when he began with a lengthy list of freight rates on which he contended the railroads desired to violate Section 4 of the Transportation Act by charging lower rates for longer hauls than for shorter intermediate hauls in order to meet water competition.

This practice would be prohibited by the Gooding bill.

Senator Fess began questioning Senator Gooding on the contention that sending empty cars west to bring east products of the interior mountain region put an extra burden on that territory that would be eliminated if lower rates were given which would permit the cars to go west loaded.

"That's the bunk the railroads have been using for years," shouted Senator Gooding as he waved his arms.

CITIES FREIGHT RATES

He charged that if the railroads had obtained from the Interstate Commerce Commission the permission to lower rates on certain commodities to meet water competition, which was refused recently, "industry east of the Mississippi would have been paralyzed."

Citing freight rates in Ohio, on which revision has been requested, he shouted:

"What would have happened if those rates had been granted?"

"Nothing," said Senator Fess, shaking his head.

"Your industry would have been wrecked," declared Senator Gooding. "The people of Ohio would have stormed this Capitol."

The railroads dominate this country as far as transportation is concerned.

"The lobby of presidents and vice-presidents has been stalking the halls of Congress ever since the bill came up, but their work has been done. They have been known to take some Senators to lunch and I have seen some of them holding conferences in the lobbies. They are hovering over the Senate like buzzards. I have seen them in the West. These are the men who will defeat the bill, if it is defeated."

Senator Gooding commenting upon Senator Fess' reference to "my genial disposition," as having aided in the passage of the Gooding bill in 1924, when it was not acted upon by the House, mentioned "left-handed compliments."

"But the Senator from Idaho has a genial disposition," interrupted Senator Fess.

REFERS TO TEACHINGS

"No, he has not," replied Senator Gooding.

Then referring to Senator Fess' teachings of political economy, he said to the Ohio Senator's opposition to the bill, explaining that Senator Fess "was not a free trader, like most of them, but he has been had touch or experience with the real things of life, like we of the West, or he would not take the stand as he has."

Debate was begun by Senator Deneen, Republican, of Illinois, who opposed the bill on the ground that enactment would bring no relief, but that it was "aimed at the transcontinental railroads and the business of the Middle West."

Senator Pittman, Democrat of Nevada, reiterated charges that the railroads sought to injure transportation through the Panama Canal by adjusting rates so that shippers would patronize transcontinental lines in preference to water facilities.

Final debate on the long-pending measure will take place between noon and 3 p.m. tomorrow with Senator Fess in charge of the opponents' hour and thirty minutes and Senator Pittman allocating the proponents' equal period.

War for Canada Held Impossible by Lord Fisher

(BY A. P. MONT WIRE)

OTTAWA (Ont.) March 23.—Britain will never take any steps to defend Canada against possible aggression from the United States, the late Lord Fisher, former head of the British navy, told Henri Bourassa some years ago.

Mr. Bourassa, independent member of the Dominion Parliament for La Belle, told the House of Commons last night of a conversation which he had with Lord Fisher, during which the question of Canada's position in the event of a war between Great Britain and the United States arose.

"Great Britain will never spend one penny, nor shoot one gun at the United States in defense of Canada in such an eventuality," Lord Fisher was quoted as saying to Mr. Bourassa. "We simply cannot do it. It is just as well you understand that."

Bill Passed to Provide Taxing National Banks

(BY A. P. MONT WIRE)

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Congressional action was completed today on a bill to give States authority under certain conditions to tax the income of national banks. The measure, already approved by the Senate, was passed by the House and now goes to the President.

It amends existing banking laws to make it possible for States having income tax laws to tax national banking associations and their shareholders on a parity with other corporations and their stockholders.

"The bill," the committee report explained, "provides for alternative exclusive methods for taxing national banks; taxation of shares as heretofore; taxation of the dividends as personal income as heretofore; taxation of the bank on income as heretofore and taxation of the bank, according to, or measured by, net income."

PRODUCER DECLARES SEX PLAYS EPIDEMIC

(BY A. P. MONT WIRE)

DETROIT, March 23.—Certain kinds of visitors from interior cities and towns are responsible for the sex play epidemic, a producer of Broadway in the opinion of Jessie Bonstelle, producer of several New York successes and now operating her own theater here.

"New York is plighted with sex play measles," Miss Bonstelle said. "It is an epidemic that will pass. Such things perish of themselves, of their own vapidness."

Your New Yorker is no more unhealthy in his tastes for drama than anyone else. He enjoys clean plays and patronizes them. The traveling public, the man in New York for a good time, keeps these sex things going. He wants to see 'naughty' plays. He neglects the clean shows. The 'good' plays, he reasons, will come to his home town and he will see them there because they are the kind he can attend with his wife and daughter."

He has no chance of New York production, Miss Bonstelle holds, unless it carries across its stage the "Broadway Success" mark.

Woodlock to be Approved in Senate, as Result

Commerce Commission Will Have Wider Field

Recognition Given South and State of Pennsylvania

(BY A. P. MONT WIRE)

WASHINGTON, March 23.—A White House pronouncement today outlining the future policy in selecting members of the Interstate Commerce Commission made practically certain Senate confirmation of Thomas F. Woodlock of New York, whose nomination has been under fire for more than a year.

The White House statement was that hereafter the South, Southwest and Pennsylvania will be given recognition. It was issued only a few hours before the Senate took up the adverse report of the Interstate Commerce Committee on Mr. Woodlock, and it is known to have swung several votes.

The Senate's nomination for more than two hours without getting a vote. After the session ended, Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, announced that in view of the White House pronouncement, he will support Mr. Woodlock, who is holding off five under a recess appointment given him last year after the Senate had failed to act on his nomination.

The White House announcement is a complete recognition of the principle for which he has been fighting," Senator Reed said. "I have not opposed Mr. Woodlock for any other reason except the nonrecognition of Pennsylvania and her industries. Having won the point, I am glad to stand with the administration in the vote on Mr. Woodlock."

The first test of strength between the administration and anti-administration forces on the nomination came almost immediately after the executive session began, with the Senate voting 43 to 30 against debating the question in public.

For two and a half hours the Senate then wrangled, largely over the question whether Mr. Woodlock is a Democrat or a Republican. That question bulked large in a hearing before the Senate committee. Mr. Woodlock, who was appointed as a Democrat, conceding that he had stood a Republican Presidential ticket for a number of years.

Consideration of the nomination will be resumed later in the week, and Chairman Watson of the Interstate Commerce Committee, in charge of the nomination, said he will press for action before the week is out.

This advertisement, published in 1923, informs parents and pupils to dispense education as follows:

"Spelling reading and writing, $1 per month.

"Arithmetic, mental and practical, geography, definitions and critical reading, $4 per month.

"English grammar, composition, logic, rhetoric, etc., $4 per month.

"Tuition invariably in advance. No refunds for absence except in case of sickness."

Nunaley left no will, and his two small sons, six and three years of age, respectively, will share the estate with their mother. An undivided half interest in Yuma real estate valued at $10,000, with live-stock and equipment worth $1000 and personal effects valued at $500 make up the estate.

SAWDUST HAS VALUE IN DYNAMITE FACTORY

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

PHOENIX, March 23.—Sawdust now is an important commodity, since the establishment of a dynamite factory at Curtiss, near Benson. It is part of the raw material used in making dynamite. It is also used for filtering sulphuric acid, and for packaging finished products for shipment. Complaint was made that the Arizona railroad rate on sawdust was the same as on lumber, which was much higher than for much longer distances from New Mexican points to El Paso. So new rate has been established, cutting the Phoenix-Curtiss rate to 15 cents per 100 pounds and the Flagstaff-Curtiss rate to 21 cents. Agreement has been reached under which the Northern Arizona-Curtiss lumber

An order has been issued that all dogs with the exception of hunting and shepherd dogs must be on leash.

Many new rayon factories have been started in France recently.

Girl Sues Estate of Fiance Who Killed Self on Eve of Their Wedding

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

BOSTON, March 23.—Miss Sophie Stanton of River Street, Hyde Park, has filed the most unusual breach-of-promise suit ever entered in this state. She asks $25,000 from the estate of her fiance, John Jackimovics of 15 Eastern avenue, Hyde Park, who committed suicide on the day fixed for the wedding.

For weeks prior to the day set for the ceremony John had gone about inviting friends to attend the wedding. Then, at the appointed time, guests arrived, and it was learned that the bridegroom had committed suicide by inhaling gas a few hours earlier.

Miss Stanton now seeks to recover $25,000 from his estate, asserting that it soon would have been hers had her sweetheart lived to carry out his promise. In attachment has been allowed on all property belonging to John.

It is rumored that another romance in the life of the youth, who was a mill hand, was responsible for his rash act.

RADICALS OPEN FORTY-NINE TO FIRE ON PERET SEEK PAROLES

French Finance Minister's Folsom Prisoners Will be Project Periled Given Hearings April 9

Socialists' Stand May Block Sichofsky Among Those of Turnover Tax Boost South Asking Release

Government Will Refuse to Sixteen on List Committed Allow Inflation from Los Angeles County

(BY GABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS) PARIS, March 23.—The Radical group in the Chamber opened fire on M. Peret's financial measures today, adopting a resolution rejecting the proposed increase in the tax on business turnover or an equivalent tax on production. Opinions were divided as to whether the government had a chance of getting a majority for the Finance Minister's projects. Leading radicals declared that the government had committed "harsh" in going back to the principle of indirect taxation for more than half the sum required to balance the budget.

The decision of the radical group, they say, will add at least 100 votes to the 100 Socialists against the government on the business-turnover tax and the government consequently will be obliged to seek its majority in the Center and on the Right among the groups which were sharply antagonized by Premier Briand in the sensational debate last Thursday. This is regarded as impossible by many Deputies. Others count on the personal popularity of M. Peret and on the delicate situation of the franc, which went down this evening to 23.51 to the dollar, to break down party hostility and assemble a majority for the government bills.

The government, according to the Finance Minister, will refuse to recommend further inflation if the treasury is not provided with funds required by the end of the month but will leave the situation for another government to solve if its plans are rejected.

Louis Malvy, Minister of the Interior, whose presence in the Briand Cabinet has given rise on several occasions to his denunciation by members of the Chamber, left Paris for Nice this evening. He is in ill health. He fainted in the Chamber last Thursday after replying to accusations of treason made by the Fascist Deputy Ybarbéguy.

It is rumored in the Chamber lobbies that M. Malvy will resign in order to give Premier Briand a free hand. The Premier will take over the duties of the Ministry of Interior temporarily.

Phoenix Street Car Lines Face Damage Actions

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) PHOENIX, March 23.—While the city street car system is making a profit of about $5000 a month on a nickel fare, operation by the municipality has been checked by a larger number of damage suits than ordinarily known when the line was operated by the Sherman interests of Los Angeles. A voluntary payment of $500 was made by the city to the widows of two men who were killed by the cars only a few days after the line was taken over. The City Council now is considering the problem of betterment.

Immediate rehabilitation, according to City Manager Henry Rieger, would cost over $1,000,000. Suggestions have been made for a $500,000 bond issue for repair of the tracks and for the purchase of better rolling stock. A material reduction has been given by the local utilities company in the cost of electrical power furnished the car system.

URGE BURIAL ECONOMY

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) RACINE, Wis., March 23.—Accidents are not the only things that worry the State Industrial Accident Commission for the commission has now let it be known that it is somewhat concerned over the high cost of funerals in California, in so far as industrial workers are affected. In a bulletin made public today the commission says: "It sometimes happens that undertakers sell to widows of deceased workmen caskets that cost more than the widow can afford to pay. The average industrial widow's mite is small enough in all cases, and the practice of frugality should begin the moment death occurs."

The commission goes on to say that the funeral expenses of a deceased workman should be kept at nearly the possible with the $150 provided for the purposes by the Workmen's Compensation Insurance and Safety Act as amended at the last session of the State Legislature. This change in the act was sponsored by the commission and increased the burial allowance from $100 to $150. The same amendment provided that the allowance of $150 for funeral cases, whereas formerly the funeral expenses were paid out of the $5000 award.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) BOSTON (Mass.) March 23.—The College of Physicians and Surgeons on Shawmut avenue was sold to E. Heintzen, on behalf of the North End Endowment, at a Sheriff's sale, for $3500. The sale was conducted by Deputy Sheriff Thomas Wilson to satisfy a judgment for $3433.33 obtained against the college last December by Mrs. Lemna Hall, administratrix of the estate of Mrs. Ethel C. Burrell, whose death is asserted to have resulted from a mistake of corrosive sublimate for calomel.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) DOUGLAS (Ariz.) March 23.—J. C. Straume, 35 years of age, was killed in the wreck of a light car which he had been given a ride. Straume was traveling from Los Angeles and was on his way to his home in Meridian, Miss., according to letters in his pocket written by his wife.

STUDENTS DEFENDED

Speaker Says More Serious Youth Attend Modern Colleges

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) ATLANTA (Ga.) March 23.—Modern college youths were defended today by Dr. Oscar M. Voorheis, national secretary of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary membership fraternity who declared there are more seriously inclined students in the colleges of America today than there ever before in the history of the nation.

When I say there are more seriously inclined students in American colleges now than ever before, I do not necessarily mean that the percentage of the seriously inclined is greater in proportion to those of frivolous turn," he said. "There is a great go-to-college movement in America now which is pouring great streams of students through the portals of our educational institutions. It logically follows that out of the mass there are going to be more of a serious turn than ever before, and that is a great thing in itself."

DISPUTE ABOUT SODA CHECK LEADS TO SUIT

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) PHOENIX, March 23.—A novel suit in the Superior Court was that of B. B. Burris against a local druggist, seeking $10,000 damages for alleged false imprisonment of the plaintiff's son, 14 years of age. The son is said to have tried to leave the defendant's place of business without paying for his soda check. Evidence presented was to the effect that the druggist sent the lad to the police station in order that the chief might give him a "good talking to." At the station, the boy was turned over to the juvenile department of the Superior Court. Judge M. T. Phelps instructed the jury to return a verdict for the defendant.

GOVERNOR OF SONORA SCOUTS CHURCH CRISIS

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) DOUGLAS (Ariz.) March 23.—Catholic and Protestant churches of Sonora are conducting themselves within the general provisions of the Mexican constitutional law on religious matters, according to Gov. Alejo Bay. The Governor declares: "There is no religious crisis in the State of Sonora and the State there does not anticipate being forced to close any churches or deport any of the clergy at the present time." The Governor says that stringent action is not likely unless clergy and congregations are inclined to be fanatical, and Sonora does not embrace such places, as far as has been ascertained. The clergy in the State is limited to thirty priests, under a law passed in 1918.

DEATH RECALLS OLD WILD WEST

Well-Known Character Dies
at Monrovia

Drove Stage Before Advent of Railroads

Spent Last Years Running
Oil Station

MONROVIA, March 23.—A picturesque and rugged figure in early California history passed last night when John H. Bullock dropped dead while working about his oil station on Pothill Boulevard in this city.

Bullock was born in England, but came to America at an early age. He came to California fifty years ago and was widely known as a mining prospector, also as a stage driver between San Diego and San Francisco.

About twenty-five years ago he came to Monrovia and started a cab line between the business district and the Santa Fe depot, driving an old stagecoach of the early English style, until the advent of the automobile. In 1918 he abandoned his taxi business and opened his oil station on Pothill Boulevard, about 300 yards west of the San Gabriel bridge.

He was a character of the old school, rugged and fearless. About a year ago two highway bandits tried to hold up his station at the point of six-shooters. The old man calmly surveyed their leveled guns and said: "Boys, I have looked these things in the face too often to be scared at this time of life, so beat it." And they did.

Funeral services will be held here Thursday afternoon at Renshaw chapel, with Rev. C. R. Montague, Methodist pastor, officiating. Burial will take place at Rose Dale cemetery in Los Angeles.

FORTUNATE ESCAPE

Minor Man Has Narrowing Experience

EXETER, March 23.—Although suffering from a deep cut in the back of the head and numerous bruises about the body, Earl Jenner of this city, who yesterday was rescued from serious injury and perhaps death when he was drawn from a well into which he had fallen, considers himself very fortunate.

While employed with his duties on the Killiam ranch south of here, Jenner passed near an abandoned and covered well pit in a field. His weight caused the ground to give way and he was precipitated to the bottom with a lot of dirt and debris.

A timber which fell down the shaft ahead of him lodged about thirty-five feet from the surface and caught the unfortunate man. Jenner sustained a bad blow on the back of the head, but managed to free his head and arms and shouted to attract attention to his plight.

Alva Jenner, his brother, heard his cries and hastened ropes to rafters overhead, descended to his trapped brother and pulled him out. Jenner was removed to the local hospital for treatment, but is at home today. He is believed to have no serious injuries.

TO EXAMINE EGGS

San Diego Man Hopes to Get Back Valuable Jewelry

SAN DIEGO, March 23.—Some people eat oysters with the hope that they will find a pearl in one of the shells and thus make their evening's fortune. But Edgar Jensen is going in for eggs in the hope of recovering from an egg that a piece of Christmas jewelry stolen from him Sunday by a hen whose appetite was stronger than her judgment.

While repairing a coop Jensen permitted the birds to get too familiar. One of them assaulted a vivid cut button that looked like a worm or a grain of corn and devoured it. Jensen is waiting for that hen to lay eggs so he can open them and find the button.

Those who know how egg fastidiously operate are warning he will not find his jewelry imbedded in the yolk of an egg.

BUSINESS MEN GET BUSY

Van Nuys Merchants Object to Proposed One-Hour Parking Law in Business District

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE)

VAN NUYS, March 23.—The one-hour parking regulation as proposed for adoption in Van Nuys, has stirred up a veritable hornet's nest in the local business district. Following the announcement that the one-hour signs were being put up, a petition was circulated protesting against the new rule, as applying to Sherman Way and all streets between Ontario and Gilmore streets, for a block on either side of Sherman Way, the town's principal thoroughfare.

The protest was further discussed last night at the Chamber of Commerce rooms by a representative group of citizens, and the proposition was threatened out from all angles. The chief objection was that the one-hour limit was too sweeping and would virtually tend to keep automobiles out of the business district. In fact, the territory named was so broad that no body would be able to ride into the city and find a place to park an auto during the day.

Considerable feeling was exhibited at the outset of the meeting, but this gradually diminished and at the finish all were in accord on a law to provide for a two-hour period during the day when automobiles could be parked in the business district. The law would apply on Sherman Way between Calvert street and Hamilton street, and one block on either side of Sherman Way on Erwin, Friar and Sylvan streets and Victory Boulevard, a narrower area.

The petition for the one-hour law was presented to the Van Nuys City Council, which is scheduled for hearing before the City Supervisors April 6, today encountered the same sort of breakers that wrecked the first attempt a few weeks ago.

Residents of the proposed district were filed with the Supervisors today in protest against the inclusion of the business district in the law. The petitioners, who are residents of the district, are the Santa Fe depot, driving an old stagecoach of the early English style, until the advent of the automobile. In 1918 he abandoned his taxi business and opened his oil station on Pothill Boulevard, about 300 yards west of the San Gabriel bridge.

GETS SHOT INTENDED FOR BIG JACK RABBIT

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE)

LANKERSHIM, March 23.—A. A. Rockwell was hurriedly taken to the Van Nuys Emergency Hospital today where a number of bird shots were picked from one of his legs by Dr. Robert Cooke. Rockwell told the police he was at work in the field near Bradford street and Lankershim Boulevard when he heard a report of a gun. Next he saw a big jack rabbit running by, with a hunter in close pursuit. At just the wrong moment, so far as Rockwell was concerned, the hunter halted and fired. The bullet struck Rockwell in the leg, which he felt as a sharp pain. He fell to the ground, and the hunter started in pursuit of the rabbit, but both he and the scared rabbit disappeared in one of the canyons of the desert. The wounds are not serious, police state.

Ontario Judge Sends Man to Jail for Naughty Talk to Canine

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE)

ONTARIO, March 23.—Establishment of the fact that the profane language he indulged in was directed against a dog failed to protect the defendant from a jail term. Judge George R. Holbrook ruled today before a jury of six men.

Judge Holbrook ruled that the jury was concerned only in determining whether or not the defendant's language had been used in the presence of women and children and the conviction followed.

Gagnon was given a sentence of ten days in jail. The man was arrested more than a week ago on a complaint of a woman who said she had been insulted by the defendant's language.

Mr. Porter came to Newport Beach in 1910 from Indiana. He had been a clerk in the Hoosier State. He was broken in health when he arrived here, and took a position at the Balboa pavilion. In 1911 he was appointed city marshal, which position he held since. Porter is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Sanford Porter, who lives in Newport Beach.

When First Game Is
Night at Home

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE)

GLENDAL, March 23.—"Why go to the Far North to trap silver foxes when you can go right out and catch one of them inside the Glendale city limits?" is the question that Sam Warren, assistant park superintendent, is asking today.

Warren this morning went to look at a trap he had set for a wildcat in Brand Park north of the city, but instead of a wildcat he found a magnificent specimen of the silver fox, caught in it, and now he is planning to keep the trap working until he catches the mate of the first one.

The fox will be placed on exhibition in one of the downtown stores, where everyone may have a chance to see it. The trap was so constructed that the fox was uninjured when it was captured.

Mr. Warren is still at a loss to know whom to thank as the anonymous fire fighter who faded away after his work was done without giving his name.

HISTORY OF THE TREE
A man by the name of Phillips homesteaded the place for a wagon and a span of mules with which to leave the country. Henry McGee, who subdivided the land, was the next owner. The twenty-acre tract with the orchard was later sold to J. N. Salles, who, in turn, sold it to J. O. Clapp, the present owner.

Skippers rubbed their eyes in amazement early yesterday afternoon as they gazed on two big steamers half a mile outside the breakwater and saw instead two little steam schooners.

By some freak atmospheric condition the ships appeared as reduced in size as they might have been looked at through the wrong end of a telescope. Their outlines appeared so distorted as to belie their identity, had not watchers on shore seen them constantly for weeks.

Residents of Point Fermin often have reported other strange sights from the water. The water is so calm that the hulls of the ships appear to be floating on a mirror.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
NEW YORK, March 23.—The average price of bonds is now at about the highest point reached since 1917, and investors are beginning to wonder whether the dip of their holdings for fear of a probable reaction or to hold them. This situation has been aggravated by the weakness shown in some stock recently on the New York Stock Exchange.

The best opinion in financial quarters seems to be that real high-class bonds will tend to advance rather than decline. This opinion is based on the shortage of high-class issues, which has already caused some bankers concern.

The Commerce Monthly, which is published by the National Bank of Commerce, says that the pressure of funds seeking investment has resulted in continued strength in the bond market. A significant feature, it adds, has been the flow of new offerings, of inorder, department and chain-store issues as the principal target of attack. Sears-Roebuck was hammered incessantly, breaking to new low ground, while R. L. May, May Department Stores, Woolworth and Montgomery Ward reacted sharply. Selling continued to find its basis in the theory that current levels of such stocks were out of line viewed from a standpoint of earnings and yield returned.

Banks Again Call Loans
Yesterday's high rate for call money was duplicated this afternoon in consequence of the further calling of loans by banks. Estimates placed the total of collateral loans called during the day at about $20,000,000, bringing the aggregate since Monday morning to around $45,000,000. As a result of the temporary stringency in the day-to-day money market, the renewal rate for call loans was established at 4 1/2 per cent this morning with a 5 per cent rate in the afternoon. The further calling of loans was attributed to needs in connection with placing on sale of the large block of Tidewater-Associated Oil Company preferred stock.

Merchandising Shares Weak
Just when most people were coming to the conclusion that the unusual dullness which characterized the morning part of the session foreshadowed a strong rally in the course of the day, fresh selling broke out in the merchandising stocks. The lethargy of the market had been regarded as indicative of the absence of further pressure on the part of speculators for the decline to extend their commitments. But with the list displaying no inclination to do better, the bear element resumed its driving tactics, singling out the mail-

High-Class Bonds Expected to Continue Their Advance Because of Shortage of Issues—Will Reflect Supply Rather Than General Position, It Is Believed

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

Oil's Turn Dull
Dullness and unimportant movement of prices was the rule in the oil, which, as a group, had demonstrated their ability to push forward in the face of reaction elsewhere up to this time. Attention was focused in the news of the day on the bearing on the industry proved sufficient to check further speculation. Reports which appeared overnight to the effect that government officials were considering an investigation into various practices, however, seemed to have no effect on the market. It was the opinion of those who followed the market that such an investigation was unlikely, but despite this opinion there was a well-defined inclination to await developments.

General Petroleum Deal On
Considerable success of General Petroleum followed the acknowledgment by one of the Standard Oil Company of New York officials of the fact that the tentative papers in the deal between the two had been signed. Offerings were looked upon as representing a realignment of sales, usual upon the receipt of good news. Officials of both companies are understood to be heading toward New York for the final closing of negotiations. While the situation appeared to be favorable, there were do the fact that the big Mellon property is understood to be weighing facts looking toward a deal with Union of California, and Texas Company and California Petroleum are the objects of endless merger gossip.

Rails Show Firm Tone
Railroads maintained a firm undertone with pronounced strength developing in some of the more prominent issues. The improved demand for the carriers was predicated on the belief that good control of operating costs would reflect in better net results for most roads for February, despite anticipated irregular showing of gross revenue. Atlantic Coast Line scored a further spectacular recovery when it was announced that current earnings without giving effect to its equity in undivided profits in Louisville and Nashville readily warranted current levels. Both the Chesapeake and Ohio issues were in strong demand at sharply higher prices. The common naturally was bought with an eye to the $6 dividend that will soon be deducted from the market price.

NET EARNINGS UP
FOR UNION PACIFIC

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
NEW YORK, March 23.—Earnings of the Union Pacific picked up in February, net operating income amounting to $1,756,059 an increase of $216,854 over February last year. Gross revenues increased to $12,462,574, compared with $12,237,174 a year ago. Net operating income for the first two months this year was smaller, however, than for the corresponding period of 1923—$3,662,514 against $3,818,758.

vestments of the highest grade. In view of the demand for them, it seems probable that the prices of such securities will move to levels that reflect the soundness of their supply rather than the general position. The bank continues:

"Capital accumulation is not likely to drop far below its present rate. The country is on so firm a basis of prosperity that ordinary fluctuations in business activity will hardly seriously interrupt it. Even a violent reaction, such as that of 1921, is likely to have much less effect on the rate of national saving than might be supposed."

A large percentage of new bond offerings since the first of the year have been foreign issues. Indications are that this will continue to be the case throughout the whole of 1924. The rate of interest on these bonds is high primarily because of the uncertainty, at the actual time of the offering, of the governments in Europe.

The ease with which industrial companies in this country last year secured loans at low rates of interest upon them would indicate that they would require very little in the relative, in the money market for expansion. Improvements and improvements, of course, will continue at a high rate.

There has been a disposition on the part of some large institutions recently to cease making loans on real estate. This should also result in more money being available for other purposes. On the other hand, if building operations in general should slow up, just that much additional funds would have to be found for other employment.

The logical trend of future developments along the lines of new credit is expected to be toward foreign countries. According to the Financial Chronicle, new capital issues floated in the United States for private enterprises in foreign countries other than Canada, amounted to nearly $400,000,000 in 1923, or more than twice as great as that of 1924.

However, the greater part of the annual increase of capital, it is almost certain, will find employment for new capital from that source will tend to take up the present slack. Consolidations in other lines of industry may also require new capital in larger amounts than is the case at this time.

Winter Months

While heavy travel to Los Angeles and other cities of California is assured for this spring and summer, inquiries in the East already indicate that next winter will bring a record number of travelers to this section.

This was the declaration made yesterday by C. L. McFaul, assistant passenger-traffic manager of the Southern Pacific, following his return home from a business trip to Chicago.

"While in Chicago I made a careful check on travel conditions and from all sources I learned that while travel agencies now are busy engaged arranging for the heavy spring and summer travel to California, they already are receiving inquiries from people planning to come here next winter," Mr. McFaul said.

NEW YORK BONDS

Dullest Day of Year
[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]
NEW YORK, March 23.—Competition from new financing and firmer money rates restricted activity in the bond market today and one of the dullest sessions of the year resulted. A renewed demand developed for some of the railroad issues involved in consolidation plans but selling activities predominated elsewhere.

Foreign obligations were sluggish as the uncertain European outlook brought continued pressure against the foreign exchange. With French francs selling at the lowest level since the sensational collapse of the currency in the spring of 1924, this nation's bonds displayed increasing nervousness. Belgian bonds were fairly steady and Mexican issues were strengthened by the prospects for clearing the oil situation.

Chesapeake and Ohio convertible 8's soared more than 4 points, with a bullish outlook for price, on the improved outlook for better merger terms.

Sugar company bonds were depressed by the decline in the price of this commodity to the lowest level of the year. Punta Alegre, Eastern Cuba, and other issues bore the brunt of the selling. Oil issues were set back by the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission to investigate recent mergers in the industry.

A good demand was reported for the $45,000,000 Tidewater Associated Oil preferred stock issue, offered today, while the San Paulo and other oil issues were described both here and in London.

Public offerings will be made tomorrow of the $20,000,000 twenty-year 6 1/2 per cent bonds for the Brown Company, manufacturers of sulphite pulp and wrapping paper, and a prime of Harris, Forth & Co. will head the underwriting syndicate.

Other financing scheduled for tomorrow includes $500,000 B. F. Keith Corporation twenty-year, 6 per cent bonds.

Following are prices of high yield and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange:

PORTLAND ROSE FETE CANCELED

Lack of Finances Given as Real Reason

No Good Place Found to Stage "Rosaria"

Many Citizens Protest to Festival Directors

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

PORTLAND (Or.) March 23.—Cancellation of this year's Rose Festival came to Portland as almost a stunning blow. There had been no advance indication that such a step was contemplated, and when the directors made the positive announcement that the annual fete was off, Portland citizens could hardly credit the development. There has been considerable protest but it is extremely unlikely that there will be a reconsideration.

Portland has held a Rose Festival every year since 1897, with the exception of 1918, when it was abandoned because of war activities. It was given up for good in 1918, but the festival had been put on such a permanent basis that its future was assured without the possibility of unusual circumstances that developed this year were not appreciated by the public in the absence of the directors' announcement.

Lack of finances was the real reason for the fete's cancellation. Last year the festival was given for the first time, paid off a small part of the $15,000 debt, and the remainder came out of a general convention fund, there being no solicitation for the festival itself. When the festival directors this year began quietly to raise funds they found that the response was not as generous as it had been in the past.

"Rosaria," which is a pageant of unusual beauty and on a most spectacular scale, was to have been enlarged and improved for the festival this year. Already Charles Wakefield Cadman had been at work revising the music he originally wrote. Miss Doris Smith had started directing the cast. It was on "Rosaria" that the festival directors depended to finance the carnival, but they wanted to raise some $50,000 immediately, and this was not easily forthcoming.

The chief trouble, however, was the lack of a suitable place to stage "Rosaria." Last year Multnomah Field was the setting, but this year that field will be torn up while Multnomah Club through public support is building Portland's new stadium. The Pacific Coast baseball park was the only place available, and the festival directors did not believe that crowds could be attracted to the festival, as they could to the more centrally located Multnomah Field.

By next year the Multnomah stadium will be completed, it is hoped, and the Rose Festival will be resumed on a more elaborate scale than ever before. A financial campaign to build the stadium is now under way. The desire of the festival directors was an additional reason that they did not want this time the festival to be a financial disaster, but a general campaign.

Some of the leading business men of the city and thousands of others are demanding that the festival be held this year as usual. Railroads and commercial bodies have already advertised it widely. So many complications are in the way, however, that it is not expected that the directors will reconsider.

WORLD'S LARGEST MUSKRAT FARM

The largest muskrat farm in the world will be established at Swan Lake, forty miles northwest of Coonard, according to Mr. J. E. McFarlane, representative of the Musquash Farms Limited of Vancouver, who is here arranging for the shipment of supplies to the company's holdings.

Mr. McFarlane is going in to the property early and will make arrangements for the location of the necessary buildings, and will also line up the right of way for the twenty-eight miles of wire netting which will be proceeded with as soon as weather conditions permit.

Swan Lake—down on the map as Pantegus Lake—is situated on the Yukon river, about nine miles south of Blackwater station, and is now served by a good wagon road, formerly used as a highway between Coonard and Prince George before the main Cariboo road was extended north on the east side of the Fraser.

Blackwater, the road on the west side branches off to Bobtail Lake, Nechaco, Fort Fraser, the Bulkley Valley and Hazelton—Vancouver Province.

CHANGING WEATHER

Gov. Smith, at a dinner in Albany, was talking about New York's almost incredibly changeable weather.

"In a hotel lobby the other night," he said, "a Maine man told a New Yorker a hunting story. 'See, sir,' he was saying, 'I killed that bar with this little pearl-handled penknife. Guess you had a tussle with a bar, hey, stranger?'"

"My goodness, yes," said the New Yorker. "I was fishing in Saranac Lake when I caught a big bear made a rush for me. He knocked the rod clean out of my hands, and I was deprived of my gun. But I grabbed the critter by the throat, roughed it up with him a bit, and then I dove in and held him quiet till he froze to death."

The Maine man nodded thoughtfully.

"Yep," he said, "I've often wanted to try that dodge myself, but the weather was just too changeable for me." —Pittsburgh Telegraph-Dispatch.

BOOM TOWNS MERELY GHOSTS

Prospectors Passing Along With Former Flourishing Cities Now Fallen to Decay

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

DENVER, March 23.—The "Cousin Jacks," the prospectors after gold, are passing. Hardly a week now goes by but word comes down that another has been found dead in a rotting cabin in the "ghost cities" that dot the high country of Colorado and the mining West. The towns, many of them, are dying, too. Once well-worn streets are grass grown, and pack rats haunt the buildings.

Decay—a sort of dry rot—has taken its toll in the same plight. Some old tunnels have been opened, a few people work there but vacant houses stand row on row. The two towns were the center of the Colorado mining boom which for years held the nation's interest.

Many of the towns are virtually without inhabitants except for one or two old prospectors who stand guard over the ruins of the boom. A person can wander through Owl, Tinopol, Mound City and other towns for days at a time without seeing a face.

Nevadaville had the first Masonic lodge charter in Colorado. The lodge still exists and men meet there for social purposes, but about long distances to attend regular meetings. Aultman was the highest town in the West, although it lost the title to several places in the Chilean Andes.

GUNNISON

Gunnison, Colo., on the western slope, started as a mining town. It has become the center of a great ranch and stock-raising region. Oursay, the most famous gold camp in the San Juan district in Southern Colorado, is still a town, but only as a country town.

Tom Walsh discovered the Camp Bird mine outside Oursay and sold it to the British government for millions of dollars. The late Senator Samuel D. Nicholson, rose to wealth in the San Juan district by ownership of the Ute and Ulay properties. Silverton, Telluride and Lake City were mining centers. The district which embraced a population of more than 25,000.

Most of the old buildings are deserted. Saloon signs hang on the streets and are illegible. In one of the dance halls the proprietors did not bother to remove a grand piano and it has been making the building and shipping the lumber with years of dust.

Black Hawk, near Central City, was a mining town. It has been a town of the nation. They were built with hard labor and money, the materials often being hauled for miles over treacherous mountain trails. Most of them were too important to be razed. The buildings and shipping the lumber with years of dust.

NATIVE PROBLEM IN AFRICAN POLITICS

Interested observers of the progress of South Africa agree that the most serious problem in its history, subsequent to the war of a quarter of a century ago, is now arisen in connection with the status of the natives.

Recent official statistics disclose that, in these conditions, are sustained, the European in South Africa will, in half a century, become a negligible quantity by comparison. One of the chief factors making for the success of Gen. Hertzog, and the defeat of Mr. Smuts at the last general election was Gen. Hertzog's promise of far-reaching changes to protect the rights of the European against the African.

The new Prime Minister's segregation policy has been made known to the public. Change of cable news does not make it clear, and it is only in the light of fuller information that the problem may be viewed in anything like its true perspective.

The Prime Minister explains that the scheme is his own, and that, pending a conference with the members of the opposition, it has been submitted to the Cabinet. He urges that the matter be treated entirely as a non-party issue.

It is proposed, in Gen. Hertzog's segregation scheme, that the native should have certain areas set aside for him, in which alone he may acquire or hold land, or pursue a skilled occupation. If he chooses to migrate to a European area, he would be subject to restrictions which are supposed to be necessary to prevent him competing with the white man. The franchise, which the Cape Province alone, among the four provinces, granted him, is to be taken away. Natives throughout the Union are to be allowed to elect representatives to the Union House of Assembly, which corresponds to the House of Representatives in Ottawa.

Each for the Cape, Transvaal and Natal, and one for Orange Free State. These members must be Europeans and in addition to the members usually sent to the South African Parliament by the provinces, they will be representatives of the native population. The scheme will be to be treated on the same lines as the European, politically and industrially, throughout the Union, subject to the restrictions to qualifications which will insure that only those shall come on the roll who, by civilization and intelligence, are able to exercise the vote. Local councils of natives, with a Union council, are to be established to deal with matters of purely domestic native concern.

That's the scheme, condensed almost to the point of interfering with its intelligibility. There are many features in it that will catch the popular imagination. It is the first time that such a thing has been attempted. Whatever be its ultimate fate, Gen. Hertzog's scheme is the commendation of the people of South Africa and those who are interested in its progress, having made a statesmanlike effort at solving a problem that is exclusively South African. But, the colored man, even when he dies down, the scheme is apt to be taken apart, and it is here that it begins to show its weakness. The geography of South Africa were such that, like Australia, the ocean, and thousands of miles of it, bounded the native, and the white man, all the union, all would be against the European, in the other.

SECOND FOREST WEEK PLANNED

Coolidge Requests Observance of Conservation

Twenty States Have Timber Preserves

Similar Program Planned for Canada

BY FREDERICK J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The second American Forest Week will be announced for the week of April 18 to 24. In designating this year President Coolidge in his proclamation recommends to the Governors of the various States that they also designate the week as American Forest Week and observe it in some manner.

Mr. Williams said that the new Edison power plant under construction near the East River will produce as much power as the entire Muscle Shoals project, and declared that all the power available on both sides of Niagara Falls would be generated by the new electricity for New York's consumption. He explained that in the State of New York the total investment in gas and electrical utilities is about $1,250,000,000, and estimated that extensions required this year will add another $100,000,000 to this total.

It is interesting to note, he said, that our gas and electrical utilities return to the public in the form of taxes practically 10 per cent of every dollar received for their service. During the year these utilities paid $25,000,000 in taxes to the State, of which $15,000,000 came from the State.

Frank W. Smith, Vice-President of the United Electric Light and Power Company, called Broadway "the first electrically lighted street in the city and one of the first in the world." He declared that the first experiment was made in 1879, and that the first electric light was used in the city of New York in 1880.

Those who have studied lumber problems say that it is important that the State should place on the State and local needs. While it is essential that everyone do his part in carrying out the national forest policy, there is also much that people can do in their own community.

State forests comprising about 5,400,000 acres, it is pointed out, however, that the State has gone into timber growing on a large scale, this is the first time.

According to the Forest Service, a number of these State forests are the result either of gifts or of special purchases which have been made a general policy. Considerably more than half of the entire area of State forests is situated in New York and Pennsylvania. Another thing, the mere fact that a State forest has been established does not necessarily mean that timber crops are being grown and harvested.

At the present time Pennsylvania is the outstanding example of State timber growing. The purchase of forest lands was authorized in 1887 and since that time has steadily gone on. The great bulk of these State forests is devoted primarily to wood production. There is now pending a State constitution which provides for the purchase of a bond issue of $25,000,000 with which to acquire approximately 5,000,000 additional acres.

In New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, and Ohio are other Northern States which are consistently building up State forests. So far Texas is the only State in the South which has adopted this policy.

It is also pointed out that town forests are an excellent means of meeting local needs. The saving in freight charges alone is a consideration. There are some 250 cities and townships in the United States which at this time own and maintain municipal forests. Often these are partly used as playgrounds and recreation grounds.

production and sale of timber in these areas is an excellent investment. It is said that the United States which at this time own and maintain municipal forests. Often these are partly used as playgrounds and recreation grounds.

CANADA'S PLANS

Another unusual feature of this year's American Forest week is that the Canadian government has also set aside the week of April 18-24 as a period when stress shall be laid upon the conservation of forest and the preservation of the forest.

He designated this period as "Save the Forest Week." He hoped that it will be possible to link the programs of these two countries, and that the United States, although perhaps more extensive, since there is more money at the disposal of the Canadian government.

Although this is only the second official American Forest week, there has been set aside a week in each year for an educational campaign in preserving the forests, since 1920.

MEXICO GIVES STATUS OF AMERICAN VISITOR

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS)

MEXICO CITY, March 23.—In consequence of speculation in the newspapers with regard to the position of Most Reverend George J. Curran, an American statesman, recently appointed Apostolic delegate to Mexico and the Antilles, the Department of the Interior has issued a statement saying that he will not be molested in Mexico if he obeys the provisions of the Mexican Constitution.

NEW YORK CITY GREAT USER OF ELECTRICITY

Electric light as an aid to progress was discussed recently before the Broadway Association at its quarterly luncheon in the Hotel Astor by representatives of three companies interested in electrical illumination.

Mr. Williams said that the new Edison power plant under construction near the East River will produce as much power as the entire Muscle Shoals project, and declared that all the power available on both sides of Niagara Falls would be generated by the new electricity for New York's consumption.

HAWAII DRAWS FREE TOURISTS

Travel Advertising Attracts Many Stowaways

Nonpaying Guests Said to be on Increase

San Francisco Girl Conceals Herself on Liner

(BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

HONOLULU (Hawaii), March 23.—"Tourist advertising" is adding something besides tourists to Hawaii's more or less permanent population. The "winter tourist season" with its influx of men in gay-checked knickerbockers and women in fur neckpieces and extremely short skirts has also brought an influx of folks less stylish in costume. Reference is made to the genus stowaway.

Waterfront reporters this week chronicled three incidents in which stowaways figured largely. Early in the week a feminine stowaway arrived on a Japanese liner. She had walked on the steamer at San Francisco as a spectator and remained on board. Minus the equipment of a ticket, she came as an unwelcome guest of the steamship company, which is liable to a $200 fine for transporting a passenger between two American ports.

Foreign ships can't do this. The young lady is Miss Marietta McAllister of San Francisco, petite, pretty and a stenographer. The dollar liner President Cleveland brought two young chaps who admitted being college boys, although the clothes in which they made the trip would never have passed inspection by the editor of "Dressed Sophomore Should Wear."

They too got on the boat at San Francisco with the passengers and didn't get off when the last gong sounded "all ashore." They had to work their way down but said they liked it. The boys are Louie Held and David Silver, and are up in the Jamar River, Virginia.

Easterners though recently from Los Angeles. Not all stowaways fare so well as these three. Recently a Filipino was found aboard a freighter just after the freighter left Honolulu for Panama. It was at night and the steamer was going through a channel of the islands. He was put ashore on the island of Kahoolawe, which is inhabited principally by goats, and only after some wandering was the story of island getting away.

Stowaways are anything but popular on trans-Pacific liners and the skippers are getting more and more disinclined toward hospitality when some quartermaster or steward appears with the report that another nonpaying passenger is aboard. Hard work and plenty of it is the fare thereafter. The fact that the stowaways appear to be on the increase is noted with interest but not with pleasure by the shipping companies as one result of the advertising campaign which spreads the story of island charm from Tallahassee to Con Cob.

BUY FIVE BOARD SHIPS

Bay City Concerns Take Over Vessels Owned by Government

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Two San Francisco shipping concerns were announced today as purchasers of five Government vessels. Suddan & Christensen have purchased the steamer West Hebrun and West Wind for $175,000 and $162,000 respectively, while Swayne & Hoyt have purchased the steamers Continental Bridge, Holyoke Bridge and Bound Brook, paying $14,000 for the Continental Bridge and $12,000 for each of the others.

The West Hebrun and West Wind are two-deck steel-hulled cargo vessels of about 8000 and 6000 tons and were built in 1918 and 1919. The West Wind was designed as an oil burner but is now fitted for coal fuel. She is laid up at New York, while the West Hebrun is laid up at Philadelphia. Both will undergo repairs.

The other vessels are of 3500 deadweight tons each and are laid up in the Jamar River, Virginia.

These bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a direct first mortgage on the entire property of the Company, and further secured by a pledge with the Trustee of the entire $9,000,000 of common stock of Brown Corporation, and $550,000 of stocks of other subsidiaries. Upon completion of present financing these bonds will constitute the only funded debt of both the Company and its subsidiaries.

The property of the Company and its subsidiaries has been appraised at over $73,000,000, which after deduction of Brown Corporation Preferred Stock is over 3.5 times this issue of $20,000,000 bonds.

A sinking fund is provided to retire one-half of this issue by maturity.

Total net earnings as officially reported of Brown Company and Brown Corporation before depreciation and depletion but after Federal Taxes and dividend on Brown Corporation Preferred Stock have averaged for the past ten years over $3,692,000, or over 3.3 times the annual interest of $1,100,000 on these bonds. For the year ended November 30, 1925, net earnings were $3,257,000, or more than 2.9 times such charges. Charges for depreciation and depletion have averaged $1,494,000 per year for the past six years, and for the year ended November 30, 1925, amounted to over $1,597,000. The property has been adequately maintained and is in excellent operating condition.

We recommend these bonds for investment and shall be pleased to send circulars describing the issue in detail.

THREE WATCHED IN MURDER TO GAIN SECRET FORMULA

Body of Man Who May Be Harold Plumbridge Found in Canyon; Slayers Fire Corpse

Three persons, two men and a woman, were under police surveillance in Los Angeles yesterday while Orange county authorities were attempting to ascertain whether the body of a man discovered in the Santa Ana Canyon near the Riverside county line was that of Harold Plumbridge, son of Mrs. Gertrude Plumbridge of Los Angeles, and if he had met death as a result of a murder plot.

The jury which yesterday heard the evidence in an inquest conducted by Coroner Brown, returned a verdict finding that the deceased man "came to his death through violence at the hands of persons unknown to the jury."

While the remains were in such a state of decomposition that an autopsy examination was well nigh an impossibility and failed to disclose in what manner the deceased met his death, Dr. Menges, a Fullerton dentist, was called upon to make a chart of the victim's teeth. Mrs. Plumbridge, mother of the man who disappeared from his home more than a month ago, stated prior to the autopsy examination that she believed her son had recently had a gold crown placed over a troublesome tooth. Dr. Menges' examination of the victim's teeth failed to disclose any such dental work.

Mrs. Plumbridge of 2723 Exposition Boulevard, could not positively identify the remains as those of her son.

The Los Angeles detectives declared their investigation showed that the body apparently had been carried to the river bottom, thrown into some brush, sprinkled with gasoline and then set afire. Wheel tracks of an automobile were found leading to the spot, they said. The remains of fire and attacks by coyotes, however, had made the corpse unrecognizable.

While the Orange county investigation was proceeding, it was learned from Capt. James Bean, head of the police homicide squad, that the disappearance of Plumbridge has been the subject of an investigation for several weeks.

FORMULA IN CASE.

Mrs. Plumbridge, the mother, advanced the theory of murder. It is understood, several weeks ago, and since then a quiet investigation has been conducted by the police. The mother reported her boy's disappearance. She told the police he had been living at 157 East Fourth street, Long Beach, for some time, and that recently he had purchased for $500 the territory rights to a certain invention for rehabilitating electric light globes. A short time after securing this formula, the mother said, her son disappeared from his home, on February 22, last.

It was learned yesterday that the police have questioned the man from whom Plumbridge bought the electric light formula. They also talked to Mrs. Ruth Martin-Plumbridge, wife of the missing man, who is employed as an attendant in a beauty parlor at

LAW URGED FOR BEAUTY SHOP RULES

Speaker Tells Convention of Operators Many Places Lack Sanitary Equipment

Mrs. Ruth J. Maurer of New York City, a professional beauty expert, yesterday declared that "particular women who would not think of using a soiled powder puff, expose themselves to various diseases in many beauty shops."

"Under California law," continued Mrs. Maurer, "any woman can open a so-called beauty shop in her own apartment and wash a patron's hair in her own sink. She also can use instruments which never have been sterilized. Such places are bootleg beauty shops."

Mrs. Maurer is a lecturer and author of books, editor of a magazine, Mildred Beautiful, and head of a school of cosmeticians. Delegates from all over California are here this week listening to lectures on the newest methods of beauty regarding beauty shops.

"Although California is ahead of other States in many things, it is far behind in needed legislation regarding beauty shops," said Mrs. Maurer. "Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin, Louisiana, Oregon, New Mexico and Connecticut now have laws governing sanitary conditions in beauty shops and prohibiting persons operating such shops unless they have had six months training in reputable schools. In Connecticut, a year's training is required. Minneapolis, Denver and a few other cities have passed city ordinances which follow these State laws."

SUBPOENA ISSUED FOR ATTORNEY

Woman Charges Lawyer Took Money on Promise to Fix Liquor Case

A subpoena calling for the appearance before Municipal Judge Turney today of Charles W. Rollinson, an attorney-at-law, was issued yesterday after Mrs. Mary Koehl had appeared voluntarily in court and declared the lawyer had obtained $250 from her and demanded $200 more, with intimations that she would charge against her could be fixed.

Mrs. Koehl said she had been arrested for possession of half a pint of liquor and had consulted Rollinson, who said his fee would be $50. The next day, she said, he called her by telephone and told her Judge Turney, before whom she was to appear, was an "awful tough nut," and might fine her $1000 and send her to jail.

"Can you raise $250?" she quoted him as saying. "Maybe it will be fixed," she said, and the money but I don't ask any questions about what I am going to do with it."

Mrs. Koehl said she ruled the money from friends and turned it over, but when the lawyer asked for another $200, she sought other advice and was told to take her story directly to court. She asserted Rollinson said nothing she did not catch about the City Prosecutor's office.

Joseph J. Sibbel, who was present at her first talk with the lawyer, testified he had heard the fee fixed at $100. Later, he said, he went to Rollinson and demanded a receipt for the $250, which he obtained. The receipt was produced in court, and Rollinson said, with Rollinson's name and read as a receipt for $250 for attorney's fees.

Deputy City Prosecutor Thoma and Judge Turney joined in a declaration that the woman's story will be heard tomorrow.

Declaring that he has not yet been served with a subpoena to appear in Judge Turney's court, Mr. Rollinson last night emphatically denied all of the charges made by Mrs. Koehl in her appearance before the court.

"It is true that I asked and accepted $250, which was my fee for the case," Mr. Rollinson said, "but I did not tell her that I could fix things up, and never even intimated that I could leave my fee was a reasonable one."

THEATRICAL MAN TO BE ARRAIGNED

Dramatic School Operator Facing Embezzlement Charges in Court Today

"Capt. Billy, writer, director and producer," so described on his letterhead, will be arraigned on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses and embezzlement in police court today as Harry Middleton. The man was arrested and jailed yesterday by Lieut. Lane's squad.

Police said Middleton operated the Emerson School of Self Expression and Emerson Studio of Fine Arts at various times in the Majestic Building, Pantages Building and later in the American Legion Building. Investigations are under way to determine whether he has duped many young women seeking dramatic and other instruction from him.

According to Middleton's story, he was a captain in the Army Air Service, came here about a year ago and formerly operated in the East and Canada.

The officers said he accepted $250 from Mrs. Carolyn C. McQuinn, 5703 Victoria avenue, and $500 from Earl De Santa, 243 South Albany street, Huntington Park, for which they were to receive, respectively, a secretaryship in the business of the California Out of these transactions came the charges on which he was arrested.

The examination of the stenographer, 1909 West Eighteenth street, and K. R. Derian, a carpenter, 2748 Olive street, have been claims against Middleton. He said the man left a company arranged in a business months ago for which he was arrested at the instance of the State department. He settled that matter, Lowy said.

Police said Middleton told them Elena Wortova, a dancer who assisted in the business, was giving instruction in dancing and dramatic art, is his wife.

Delay of Week Won by Schwarz Over Protests

The case of Barney Schwarz, accused of jury tampering, was put over yesterday for a week by Judge McLucas over the protests of Asst. Dist. Atty. Frick. John R. Cooper, attorney for Schwarz, pleaded he has to try a murder case in Judge Hahn's court and has lacked time to prepare the Schwarz case. He asked forty-five days.

"I have heard the request," said Frick, "that some one is willing to pay $5000 to have this case continued that long, do not accuse Mr. Cooper, but in view of the fact I object to any continuance."

Judge McLucas said he cannot well interfere with a murder trial and granted a week's delay.

Frick explained his words by saying he understands Schwarz is engaged in an important task for a company which is reluctant to have him go to court. He said he is a charge of violating the corporate securities act. The jury disagreed.

Will your Plastering make 'Cats-Faces' at you?

THOSE round dark spots that seem to be just peeping through the plastering on your neighbors' walls and ceilings are "cats-faces." Not particularly ornamental, are they? You wouldn't care to have them in your own home.

You need not. They are only one of the many penalties people pay for a "cheap" job of plastering, under the impression that they are getting economical plastering.

Your neighbor probably boasts about his shrewdness in getting a plastering contractor to come down his price—he was quite happy over a few dollars he saved.

But he isn't so happy now. He much rather have those few dollars in his walls and ceilings than to have conspicuous defects which simply cannot be covered up.

You can avoid them easily. Simply allow your general contractor enough for a good job of plastering. Do not experiment with "cheap buying" in purchasing plastering. Insist on quality job, and the result will be more satisfaction to the square yard than you can buy with any equal investment in your home.

Chassis 407-HH gives "railway" transportation with "private car" comfort

*Inspectors visit every Rolls-Royce chassis frequently during its entire life
This advertisement is based upon detailed records kept at the Springfield works

THE summer itinerary of chassis 407-HH sounds like an announcement of through trains to America's favorite playgrounds. "We go," says the chauffeur, "from Philadelphia to Saratoga... Lake Placid... Lenox... over the Mohawk Trail to Greenfield... Mt. Washington... and so on up to Rangeley Lakes and Canada." Three different summers this trip of 5000 miles has been made in 5 weeks. On these long trips gasoline yields as high as 15 miles to the gallon.

Once they went from New York to Saratoga over roads marked: "Use detour. Under repairs." "No matter how rough the roads or how fast I drove," continued the chauffeur, "my employer and his guests just sat back—and rode, relaxed and comfortable. They were as happy and as fresh when we reached Saratoga as when we left New York."

Not many motor-cars, save in test runs, are called upon to go so far, or so fast, as chassis 407-HH in its regular day-by-day work. Yet, for all its covering of ground, this Rolls-Royce is always ready to go. Only once in four years has the owner had to wait while a minor adjustment was being made—and then only 7 minutes. Never was the absolute 3-year guarantee against failure of any mechanical part called in question. Matchless springs turn the roughest roads into sweeping, comfortable miles. The perfectly attuned engine, with its 5 vibration dampeners, provides the smooth, unracked, high-speed travel of a Pullman car. Safety and mental ease come with the knowledge that Rolls-Royce brakes can always bring the car quickly to a dead stop—at any speed—on any hill.

Can you expect your motor-car to serve you for 20 years at least, providing transportation without limits of distance or comfort?

Let us demonstrate the Rolls-Royce on a 100-mile trial trip. The trip will be arranged to suit your convenience, over any roads you may select.

Sheriff Co-operating

Dewar Rushes Work to Make
Place Escape-Proof

An optimistic report on present conditions at the County Jail was made yesterday by the special committee of the Los Angeles grand jury, appointed to inspect the jail to see how the recommendations of the grand jury are being carried out.

The report, which was given to Foreman William H. Carter, who transmitted it to Judge Keach, stated that the Sheriff and the Board of Supervisors are now co-operating, and that the new jail management is carrying out the suggestions of the grand jury.

The grand jury, resuming yesterday its investigation of the construction of the new Hall of Justice and the management of the County Jail, had Supervisor Dean Dewar before it as a witness for several hours. It was said that Dewar was questioned on the cost of the building.

One other witness was called, whose name was withheld. He was said to be one of the three engineers called in to check the building as to plans and cost. It was stated that the report of the engineers, when completed, will be kept secret until the grand jury has concluded its investigation.

Jailer Dewar, it was reported, is rushing work on improvements designed to make the jail escape-proof, more workmen being called in during the day.

The grand jury inspected the jail, taking dinner in the dining-room.

Branded as Friend of Martin Durkin

Accused in Dyer Act Case
Deputy United States Marshal Margarita and Lloyd Worthington.

SUSPECT LINKED TO KILLER

Lloyd Worthington on Trial in Auto Theft Case,
Declared by Witnesses to be Durkin Companion

Lloyd Worthington, on trial before United States District Judge Henning on a Dyer Act charge, was described as a boon companion of Martin Durkin, Chicago killer, by witnesses at the opening of the case yesterday.

Only two witnesses of the fifty or more the government intends to use were on the stand yesterday. The first was Dean Higgins, whose car Worthington is said to have stolen at Toledo, O., and driven to this city, resulting in the Dyer Act charge against him.

Higgins, a wealthy insurance man, told how he identified the car in spite of the fact that the numbers on the machine had been erased. Scratches and dents on the car, he stated, enabled him to determine that it was his.

The second witness was Mrs. O. W. Roberts, wife of a motion-picture photographer, who before her marriage was Jean Wines, a motion-picture actress. She is the sister of Carol Wines, another film actress.

She testified that while Durkin was here some months ago she was introduced to him and Worthington by a former admirer, known to her as Bobbie Burns. Durkin at that time was going under an assumed name, she stated, but she recognized him later from photographs.

In the company of Durkin, Worthington and Burns, she said, she visited a roadhouse for a party. This was all before her marriage.

Efforts to obtain a delay in the trial by Attorney E. G. Woodward, representing Worthington, were denied by the court after considerable argument. The attorney declared that he had not had time to familiarize himself with the case, and therefore could not go on with the trial. Chief Assistant United States Attorney Lucas, however, objected vigorously to the motion for continuance, and the court ruled that the trial begin.

'Jay Hawks' and 'Tigers' to Sink Ancient Enmity

The "Tigers" of Missouri University and the "Jay Hawks" of Kansas University have agreed to forget their "ancient enmity" and to make peace together at a joint banquet to be given at the University Club next Friday evening, according to officials of the two alumni clubs in Los Angeles.

The banquet was planned by Phil S. Gibson, president of the Missouri University Alumni Association, and Frederick R. Feltshans, head of the Kansas Alumni Association. Messages from officials of the two institutions of learning, broadcast through KJL, will feature the evening.

Former members of both colleges are invited to attend. Reservations may be obtained by telephoning Trinit 6755.

PETROLEUM COURSE OPENS

Wasteful methods of production and refining petroleum must be eliminated by scientific training, according to Allen E. Sedgwick, head of the department of geology of the University of Southern California, who is to conduct a new course in petroleum geology at metropolitan college, U.S.C., opening tonight on the thirteenth floor of the Transportation Building, with the public invited to the initial meeting. A short time ago the oil business was concerned with the manufacture of kerosene for lamps and stoves. Sedgwick's new course will teach the use of petroleum as a motive power for manufacturers and for transportation both by land and sea. Scientific training must also aid in finding new sources to replenish the diminishing supply.

An ordinance permitting the use of steel joints in buildings of class A construction was adopted yesterday by the Council by a vote of 9 to 4. The opposing votes were cast by Councilmen Allan Collier, Randall and Sparks.

NASH TRACES AUTO HISTORY

Manufacturer Tells Advertising Club Motor Car Use Back of Nation's Prosperity

Tracing the history of highway transportation from the days of the ox-cart to the present, C. W. Nash, president of the Nash and Ajax Motor Company of Kenosha, Wis., addressing the Advertising Club at the Biltmore yesterday, declared the automobile has done more to bring health, joy and prosperity to the American people than any other single innovation in American history.

"Pass a law prohibiting the use of automobiles for a month and the business of the country would be almost at a standstill," said Mr. Nash. "The automobile has brought us country to the city and taken the city to the country. It has brought air and sunlight to shut-ins and restored the rose of health to pallid cheeks. It has done more than anything else to bring the American family together and to allow the members to enjoy one another's companionship."

SHIFTING OF NAMES BACK OF DEED SUIT

Woman Says She Bought
Property Using Expected
Husband's Cognomen

Because Mrs. Alice May Johnson, according to her story, wanted to be spared the trouble of changing names on a couple of property deeds in 1912, she appeared as plaintiff in a suit against Thomas B. McEntire in Judge Hanby's court yesterday.

Mrs. Johnson used to quiet title to two pieces of property which, she said, she had bought with her own money in 1912. In making the purchase, she said, she used the name of Alice M. McEntire, although her real name then was Alice May Partridge.

The title was taken, she said, in the name of McEntire and herself as husband and wife. McEntire had promised to marry her, she declared, and she thought by premature use of the name to save herself the trouble of changing the deeds later.

McEntire, she said, didn't pay anything on the property, and the marriage never took place. McEntire testified he had paid part of the purchase price, and for some time had used his earnings in making time payments. He said he had not married the plaintiff because she wouldn't go to Oklahoma with him.

Both parties, it was stated, had since married other persons. Judge Hanby took the case under submission.

Jealousy Plea Fails as Excuse for Taking Car

Despite a novel excuse, corroborated in part, Orville Freshour yesterday was held by Municipal Judge Ambrose to answer a charge of stealing an automobile. The car was that of L. F. Carmack. Freshour testified his wife had driven him downtown and let him out at a drug store. He supposed she intended to wait, but when he came out he saw her driving away. "I have a very jealous disposition," Freshour said. "My first impression was that she was on her way to meet another man, my second was that she intended to leave me, and that she was driving away. So I jumped in the first automobile I came to and started in pursuit. An officer stopped me before I had gone a block."

Mrs. Freshour gave a similar version.

LAWYER SEIZED AS HI-JACK AIDE

Wallace Davis Apprehended in McDonald Case

He and Number of Others Indicted During Day

Extortion and Bribery Laid to Gang Suspects

Wallace Davis, local attorney, was taken into custody yesterday while in the midst of a trial in Municipal Judge Edmunds' court as the frequently mentioned, but heretofore unnamed, "lawyer" who served as the legal end in James L. McDonald's hi-jack trust.

The young attorney's sudden change of role from counsel in one case to defendant in another and much more serious one came shortly after he, together with McDonald and a number of others, had been indicted by the grand jury on charges of extortion, grand larceny, bribery and other offenses growing out of McDonald's widespread hi-jacking activities.

BOND PRODUCED

Immediately after his arrest, the attorney was taken by Deputy Sheriff King and Collins before Judge Keetch of the Superior Court to face the indictment against him. His bond was set at $5000 and this he immediately produced and left the courtroom.

The specific charges against Davis are extortion, bribery of a public officer and grand larceny. They are all based on the "shaking down" of P. C. Metzler and his wife to the extent of $500 on December 6, 1931. It is charged in the indictment that Davis split the money with McDonald, who at that time was still in the service of the county as a day agent and this asserted offense is made the basis of the bribery charges. McDonald is named in the same indictment and the same charges are invoked against him.

The other indictments also name McDonald in addition to Frank Bailey, H. C. Clark and Steve and Calvin Warren. These charges are extortion, grand larceny and conspiracy to extort money, wines and liquor, all in the month of February. The victims named in the indictments are E. J. Gosnell, Miss Mayde Banks, "Winning's" oil queen and sportswoman, and John Sheple.

CALLED "FRAME-UP"

McDonald, a former day agent under Chief Enforcement Officer Contreras of the District Attorney's office, was arrested on February 26, last, and made a detailed confession in which he is said to have named Davis.

The investigation into McDonald's activities disclosed that he had organized and headed a group of hi-jackers. He escaped recently from the Santa Anita jail where he had been placed to prevent an attack on his life by rum-runners, but was captured by Contreras near San Francisco and brought back here to face trial.

Attorney Davis last night termed the whole affair "a frame-up."

"When McDonald was caught, he wanted me to defend him and I ignored him," he declared, "and now he is trying to drag everyone into the case he possibly can, just as he attempted to involve the Watts police department. I had nothing whatever to do with it."

SOCIAL WORKERS TO HEAR TWO SPEAKERS

James McDonald, chairman of the International Police Association of New York, an organization for the promotion of international friendship, and Alice Henry of the Women's Trade Union of Chicago, will appear as the chief speakers at the luncheon-meeting to be given tomorrow noon at the City Club by the American Association of Social Workers. It will be an open meeting, the first of this kind conducted by the association. The general public is invited. Mr. McDonald will discuss various international problems as they relate to the field of social service and Miss Henry will discuss the work of her organization among the women workers of the nation.

VALUABLE RUGS TAKEN FROM PRIVATE HOME

Louis Bianchini, 188 South Arden Boulevard, reported to police yesterday that thieves had entered his home through a bedroom window late Monday night in the absence of the family and carted away two valuable rugs. The rugs, valued at $4000. Among the articles reported stolen were a Persian rug, valued at $1500; a Chinese rug, $350, and a $1000 fur coat. Jewelry valued at $150 was stolen from the home of Miss Adeline Crawford, 2914 West Thirtieth street, by a burglar who entered through a bedroom window, according to a report to the police.

SOROPTIMISTS SHOW WORK

Brilliant Program Reveals Wide Scope of Professions and Trade Engaged in by Los Angeles Women

BY MYRA NTE

Brilliant in its demonstration and original in its concept was the business and style show put on by the Soroptimists in the ballroom of the Biltmore yesterday at noon when the 150 members showed to a group of 1000 men and women gathered about the luncheon tables that everything for the welfare of mankind is cared for by women in Los Angeles. Mayor Cryer opened the show and Mrs. Gertrude Maynard presided.

Aletha Gilbert, City Mother, from hat to shoes wore the garments of her "children," every one a sister Optimist.

Over the top went Matilda Olson with the hat Mother Gilbert was wearing. Annie L. Colburn provided a white fox fur. Between the fur and the hat was a face make-up, for which Frances E. Shaner wielded the brush. Dr. Lillian Grandmason lent distinction with glasses within a long-nose holder. Louise Malmstrom added her artificial flowers. The gown of the very newest shade of ash of roses was by M. Z. Ellison. The initiated could pick out the exact shade of the hose that were by Edna Kinney. Thus straight from the tip we came to the toes which, with her mate, was shot in the latest in footwear by Alberta-Gude Lynch.

ONE OF THIRTY

But Mrs. Gilbert's appearance was only one of thirty-two numbers upon the program. Charming 3-year-old Charlotte Bull demonstrated what Phoebe Ara White can do to train the singing voice. Esther Campbell as the whistling newboy created a sensation. She demonstrated what Agnes Woodward can teach in this line.

Rose W. Hendee showed how to get rid of some of his burden. Norma Gould added the dancing of her pupils. Violet Turner Searcy, who presented "Art in Making," sketched Miss Gould's foot. Dr. Della Hubbard, chiropodist, gave a tabloid lecture on how to be happy with cornless feet.

The only woman in the United States catering exclusively to golf in all its departments, dress, sticks, caps and capes, is Ada B. Watson and she gave a popular number with James A. Sinclair at the bagpipes and Mary E. Watson sang the highland fling.

A little old-fashioned girl with the dream of fairy tales in her deep brown eyes told in a charming way of "My Book House," managed by Mrs. B. B. Harris. All children who appeared were children conducted by the association. The numbers were enjoyed greatly. Perhaps most delightful of all were the three boys from 8 to 13 years of age who in white sport coats sang songs of Anne Hare Harrison, writer and producer of children's plays and pageants. Marion Olds and Donald Tuttle danced the "Merry Widow" waltz, demonstrating the ballroom instruction of Louise Helen Kramer.

FLORIST SHOWS FAN

Among the others were: Rose Lathrop, florist who showed a floral arrangement of food and household products with "The Horn of Plenty"; Estella M. LePage, "The Multigraph Girl"; Esther M. Butler, "So Different," shoes announced delightfully by small Frank Sherrard; Miss Marion Lois, chairman of the show, manager of Business Sales Service Company, presenting her daughter, Mrs. L. W. Lewis; "Tell the World and Increase Your Sales"; "Mayme V. Matthey," hospital supplies presenting a "Knight in Armor" the armor being the surgical instruments; Viola De Graff Roentgen, sport dresses and coats.

Muriel Knight was the canable announcer of the show, which closed with a fashion pageant and a "Good Night Parade" showing the latest in military's palamas. The welfare interests of the club were beautifully illustrated by a group of Camp Fire Girls presenting an exercise and song number by Mary M. Russell, Los Angeles Council Camp Fire Girls. Also by the exhibit of remarkable needlework by those who live at the Training Home for Girls conducted by the Big Sister League.

BARRACUDA IN FIRST RUN OFF LONG BEACH

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, March 23.—The season's first run of barracuda was reported off Long Beach this morning when seven veteran fishermen brought in a total of twenty-two good-sized fish, averaging three pounds each. According to old timers along the water front, this is the earliest that barracuda have appeared this far north. The school was encountered off what is known as the horseshoe kelp bed, half-way between Long Beach Harbor entrance and Catalina.

Heavy snowfall has brought better times to Latvia by permitting the felling of many trees for lumber.

BUSY DISTILLERY RAIDED

Three Men Arrested at Large Plant Declared to Have Used Force of Fifty Salesmen

Federal prohibition officers led by Ray S. Adams, chief field agent, disrupted an illicit liquor manufacturing business yesterday doing such a flourishing trade that fifty salesmen were needed to distribute the product, according to their report. Three men were arrested, two stills of 250-gallon capacity each were seized; 180 barrels of mash and fifteen gallons of moonshine liquor ready to be sold, it was charged.

The raid was staged at 2085 Bay street, between Eighth and Ninth, near Santa Fe. The liquor detail watched the stills in operation through a skylight, they said, and then rushed the warehouse, where the material was found.

Those arrested gave the names of H. Chervin of 627 Britannia street, Frank Weinstein of 1226 East Twenty-second street, and Dennis Beger, 403 North Pig street. They were arraigned before United States Commissioner Head, bond of $2000 placed upon each and hearing set for Friday.

According to Chief Agent Adams, he and another officer climbed onto the roof of the warehouse and watched proceedings inside through the skylight. Beger and Weinstein, they said, were cleaning part of the apparatus, preparing it for a new "run." Adams sent five men into the building to seize the occupants and declared that as he started down off the roof Chervin came along the street and was about to enter. Chervin is accused of trying to flee. Adams chased and caught him. In his possession, Adams charged, was a quantity of pipe fittings that apparently were to be used inside the warehouse, so Chervin also was arrested.

The agents found, they said, a book containing the names of fifty men, each of whom was supplied with an automobile, according to notations in the list, and the officers declared these men were salesmen of liquor.

MAIL-THEFT JURY TAKES UP EFFORTS

Robinson Defense Lawyers Indicate Course During Questioning of Panel

Efforts to complete a jury to try Tom Robinson, asserted member of the Herb Wilson band of super-mail robbers, occupied the entire day yesterday in United States Judge James' court.

The panel of prospective jurors was subjected to a rigorous cross-examination by defense counsel, Attorneys Soren X. Christensen and Otto Christensen.

Herb Wilson, leader of the bandit gang, who is now serving a life sentence at San Quentin, and Harry Greengard, serving a similar sentence at the Virginia State penitentiary, will be the government's chief witnesses in the case.

Robinson is charged with conspiracy in the $1,500,000 mail robbery here on November 3, 1921. It is charged that he permitted the bandits to use his home to divide their plunder.

NO CLEWS IN ABSENCE OF CONTRACTOR

Former Secret Service Man Missing Two Weeks After Fishing Trip

After a search of two weeks, police and Federal secret service agents were at a loss last night to explain the disappearance of Anatole L. ("Tony") Rodau, former secret-service agent and more recently a building contractor living at 1744 Ashcroft Drive in the West Hollywood-Sherman district.

Rodau has been missing since the 16th inst. Two messages from him have been received since that time, according to police detectives, but neither produced a clue to his present whereabouts.

Rodau, police reported, went to Santa Monica fishing two weeks ago today, with a friend by the name of Murphy, whose address police do not have on record. Following the fishing trip, Murphy told investigators that Rodau wanted to go to the Olympic Auditorium to a boxing bout. Whether he did is not known, but he has not returned home since.

Four days after his disappearance, Murphy, according to police, received a phone call from Rodau, who casually inquired, "How are things coming along?" Murphy, it was said, told him to phone his wife at once, as she was hysterical at his absence. Rodau said he would buy it.

Fear that he had met foul play was dispelled to a great extent when a letter was received from him on the 16th inst., postmarked at Salt Lake City. The letter gave his wife power of attorney in all his affairs, police said, but gave no explanation for his presence in Salt Lake City. Mrs. Frieda Rodau, his wife, and the mother of their two children, said the letter was in her husband's handwriting.

After weeks of preparation, Movie Studio Cafe, declared to be something really new in restaurants, throws open its doors to the public tonight.

Located across the street from the Universal Studio, at 4613 Lankershim Boulevard, the new cafe is an altered motion-picture studio itself. Film sets surround the large stage, a large dance floor has been installed in the center and private dining rooms are papered with photos of prominent stars.

Last night a "preview" of the cafe was given newspaper men and members of the Wampus. Dinner was served, the cafe orchestra furnished dance music, and a number of vaudeville acts comprised the entertainment.

For tonight's formal opening at 8 p.m. high-class entertainers have been engaged to alternate with the orchestra, and attractive souvenirs will be given to all. A record crowd is expected to attend the premiere of the novel cafe.

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

LOCAL LAUGHS

Each week The Times produces a film entitled "Local Laughs," consisting of the fifteen best jokes submitted by local people. Weekly prizes are paid of $5, $10, $25, and twenty of $1 each. A list of theaters showing the film, together with rules for submitting jokes, are given daily in a column in The Times. Prize-winning jokes, and names and addresses of winners, appear only on the screen. Jokes receiving honorable mention will be given a place or honor on The Times comic page each week-day, and each of these contributors will receive a souvenir of acknowledgment.

ADJUSTED LOSS CASES PRESENTED

First Hearing Conducted Under Last Legislature's Insurance Act

State Insurance Commissioner Denick conducted the first public hearing yesterday under the provision of the adjusted loss cases act. The hearing was held in the State Insurance Department building over public adjusters.

The hearing was an informal investigation and was called on complaints regarding the adjusted loss cases act. The act was passed by the last Legislature giving the State Insurance Department jurisdiction over public adjusters.

The complaints heard yesterday were those of L. D. Hoffman, former proprietor of a merchandise store on Central avenue, and Charles Spitz, proprietor of a luggage shop.

Attorney McPherrin, representing Mr. Hoffman, charged that the Fidelity Union Company is avoiding the payment of $118 insurance loss. Judge Hindman, counsel for the insurance carrier, maintained that in his opinion the company is not legally liable because the salvage was sold before any adjustment was made. The case grew out of a misunderstanding as to who was the official adjuster for the company, according to the commissioner.

Spitz complained that he had signed away liability for losses amounting to $20,000 under "pressure." He was represented by Attorney Bromley, who charged that "strong arm" methods are being used to adjust his claims. After the fire, Spitz was held for questioning in the District Attorney's office for four hours and was advised to "settle." It was testified.

MOTHER TURNS THIEF TO GET FAMILY FOOD

Mrs. Eva Salfman has four children, and her husband Joseph has been out of work six months. The only income of the family is $10 weekly, which a son Louis earns as a grocery boy. This barely pays the rent.

With three hungry, small children, Mrs. Salfman was sore troubled. Her husband had been laid off and there was no money in the house. Nor was there any money with which to buy food. Mrs. Salfman turned Jean Valjean. Only instead of stealing bread, she stole milk.

She entered an apartment-house at No. 148 Hooper street, Brooklyn, and took a bottle of milk. The janitor had been receiving complaints from tenants that their milk had been missing from time to time. The janitor stood watch yesterday morning and saw Mrs. Salfman take a bottle.

He called a policeman and she was taken out to face a charge of petty larceny. When she stood before Magistrate Short in the Bridge Plaza Court she sobbed:

"I'm guilty, your Honor. I'm sorry for what I've done, but I had to get something to eat for the children."

"Well," replied the Magistrate, "there's only one thing that I can do for you in jail for trial in the Court of Special Sessions. I'll fix bail at $10."

He might just as well have placed the bail at $50,000. Mrs. Salfman couldn't furnish it. So she was taken to Raymond-street jail. At home her children wailed with hunger and because they missed mother. A neighbor, Morris Wertheimer, a forger in the same building, heard the children crying. He rushed over to the jail and furnished bail for Mrs. Salfman.

The children were fed. Mrs. Salfman is worrying how she will be able to feed them tomorrow and the next day. She is worrying what will happen to her in the Court of Special Sessions. But she knows: She may meet kind justice who will temper justice with mercy and kindness. (New York World.)

PLAN ROAD IMPROVEMENT

The Board of Supervisors of San Bernardino county has been called upon by the California Highway Commission to condemn a right of way ninety feet wide for the State highway through the townsite of Minnesota, in that county. The location is desired for the improvement of a section of the National Old Trails Highway leading from Harston to Topock.

Strength of Hyena's Jaws

The hyena is one of the strongest of mammals, but is known also as one of the most cowardly. A small dog has been known to send one flying. Only when cornered will it fight. Hyenas are strong enough to crush the shinbone of a horse. In Asia and Africa, where it is most commonly found, the animal is held in contempt because of its skulking habits.

ANNOUNCES SECOND MUSICAL CONTEST

Fitzgerald's to Award Piano in Student Affair

James Tabor Fitzgerald
Fitzgerald's to Award Piano in Student Affair

The second annual Fitzgerald trophy contest in which a Knabe grand piano will be presented to the winning piano student, was announced yesterday by James Tabor Fitzgerald, president of the Fitzgerald Music Company, to take place in May.

"Our first contest, held last year, did a great deal to cultivate a higher knowledge and appreciation of good music," stated Mr. Fitzgerald. "Naturally, such a valuable prize tends to attract a work of which the talented pupil is capable and greatly stimulates his desire for personal study and practice. We also are glad of the opportunity to do our share in developing future concert artists who eventually will take their place in spreading the message of culture with music."

Last year's contest, which attracted nation-wide attention, was won by Miss Doris MacLean.

ROMONA TEMPLE TO STAGE SHOW

Ramona Temple, Monterey Park, will be the scene of a splendid entertainment with "Romona" Thompson as master of ceremonies, on Tuesday evening.

The citizens of Monterey Park are to have the privilege of seeing Miss Alice Calhoun, a Warner Brothers star, who will appear in her own act.

"Little Jean" Davis Swift, child actress of only eight months, will exhibit her toe and acrobatic dancing ability.

Dainty Billie Weir will sing songs, and do some clog and soft shoe steps.

Coyle and Weir, two clever youngsters who are under contract with the Western Motion Picture Association for a twelve-week tour of the East in songs and economic vaudeville, beginning about June 1, will be another unit.

George Hunt, a bewildering juggler, and monologist Miss Bernice Teo, the accompanist of the evening, will give several piano selections.

Through the courtesy of Miss Anita Ariles, teacher of voice culture and stage training, Miss Edna Greenleaf, soprano, will sing for Francis Barrio, the little girl with the big voice.

RADIO TEST BRINGS OUT WEIRD SOUNDS

Pandemonium broke loose in the air of Europe during the early hours of a recent morning when seventy British and Continental broadcasting stations experimented for the first time with new wavelengths allocated by the Geneva conference at the recent assembly of police regulations for the ether. British experts at the Heavy Metal, headquarters of the British Broadcasting Company, observing the effect, listened to the weird sounds they have heard in their whole experience, which had already included some fairly queer queer sounds.

The object of the test, which is the first of a series, was to secure an arrangement of wave-lengths which will make each station immune from jamming—a situation which frequently brings tears to the eyes of the European wireless fans.

At the prearranged hour of midnight each of the seventy stations throughout the British Isles and the whole continent of Europe adapted its transmitter to the wavelength assigned to it and sent out the best program it could devise, while a committee of experts sat in London for the purpose of reaching scientific conclusions.

Nine minutes later Newcastle registered the first complaint and a brief inquiry showed Gratz, Austria, was the offender. Then Bournemouth, Glasgow, Edinburgh, Liverpool and Hull came with complaints, and the offenders were located in Norway, Germany, France, and one expert asserted America was the culprit, although it was not certain. The committee at night at the radiophone center, heard Brussels begin exactly "midnight" with music, followed by Dresden, Lyons and Breslau. Then the Petit Parisien, the Paris daily, gave a political speech. London came next with American jazz music by the Savoy Band. Distinctly wafted across the Alps a few minutes later a church organ playing at Stuttgart offered a strange contrast.

A weird noise followed this, whereupon it was found Manchester, Eng., had clashed with Manchester, Belfast and Aberdeen there were heard and Budapest provided stirring Hungarian dance music. Finally Old Newcaston and half a dozen other widely separated cities of Europe completed the list.

The Geneva experts were enthusiastic over the first experiment and said it was only a question of a short time when all Europe would be working in "wireless harmony" if not political concord. (New York Times.)

SLAVERY IN CULT CHARGED

Wife's Complaint Says She Was Prisoner Four Years of 'Friend of Christ' and Often Lashed

A weird and unusual story of medieval superstition, mistreatment and imprisonment for four long years in the headquarters of a local cult, whose leader professes to converse with Christ at frequent intervals, was unfolded yesterday in a matter of fact divorce complaint filed by Jennie T. Grover against her husband, S. G. Grover.

The strange complaint was pre-while here are too ridiculous to need denial.

Mrs. Herron denied emphatically that she is the leader of a weird cult in which hypnotic rites have a prominent part.

"I am a teacher of the Bible, nothing more nor less," she insisted. "I have no organization and no ritual of any sort. I know nothing of hypnotism and could not use it if I would. My meetings are open to any person interested in Bible study."

"Mrs. Grover went and came freely without the slightest interference on my part while she was here. Her husband still makes his home here."

Twin Brothers in Custody on Mann Act Case

John R. Ross, 24 years of age, of 129 North Olive street, and his twin brother, Jack M. Ross, were arrested yesterday by Detective Lieutenants Watson and Blake of the crime prevention bureau on suspicion of violating the Mann act.

The brothers, according to the police, are believed to have brought Paney Yonkers and Mary Ratcliff to Los Angeles from Glia, Illinois, where they were detained as material witnesses.

TWO MILLIONS PAID FROM PUBLIC FUNDS

The Census Bureau figures indicate that the cost of State government has more than doubled since 1913. It has almost tripled since 1913. An army of nearly 2,000,000 is engaged in the public service.

It is an odd and curious circumstance in this country of ours, in which business is the chief and most important industry, that business men are not interested in the business of government which they support. Neither are the politicians interested. They are content with places, power and policies.

It follows simply enough that if the people who provide the money are not interested in what becomes of it and whether it is wisely expended, and if the people who spend it are not interested because there is always more where the supply comes from, the present situation should exist. It has existed for a long time; some 143 years, in fact. As long ago as 1776 it was being talked about and on July 4 of that year a company of patriots drew a bill of complaint against "the present King of Great Britain" charging:

"He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance."

From that day to this nothing has ever been done about it; the condition has continued unremedied. Not only that, it has grown. The number of office holders has increased to countless thousands of thousands. Nobody knows how many there are or how much they are paid. Apparently it is nobody's business to know. There are only estimates of their number and the total sum was each year for their support. Some of them, of course, are necessary and desirable; the rest are unnecessary and worthless. Nobody knows how many fall into one or the other of these two groups. They have never been classified.

Now with a Vermont Yankee in the White House with his reputed cold passion for economy and frugality, something can be done if his interest can be kindled. A start has been made. The budget has been brought to light facts and figures about Federal employment. If the Federal government will, it can have a job at hand that ought to be just in his line. He can prove that his election was "good for business"—not merely private business, but also, and more important, public business. (World's Work.)

CHARGES DENIED

"Charges that I hypnotized Mrs. Grover, that I beat her or that she was kept a prisoner in my home are absolute fabrications," Mrs. Mary Herron, the asserted priestess of the local cult, declared yesterday. "There is not a word of truth to her statements. I am amazed. It seems impossible that anyone could make such utterly false assertions."

"I felt before the marriage that Mrs. Grover was not the woman to make a successful wife for Mr. Grover, but when she came to me for help, I gave her the best I could. I have not seen her since, although she wrote a letter to her husband."

HUSBAND STILL THERE

"Mrs. Grover had her own apartments here. She was not compelled to do my housework. For I have had the same capable housekeeper for the last seven years. As for the charges that she was beaten or subjected to other mistreatment, they are all lies."

CHARGES SERVICE

Some months after her marriage, she declares in the complaint, she was put into the cult church on West Slauson avenue and kept there in a condition of penal servitude.

The rules laid down by Mrs. Herron, according to the complaint, required that she do nearly all the housework and cleaning about the church, that she make no unnecessary noise, and that she never engage in a conversation.

The only relaxation permitted her, the complaint says, was at prayer meetings in the church. At these meetings she would be permitted to talk for a few moments occasionally.

Violation of any of these rules, she stated, brought prompt and brutal punishment. This was always the same. Her clothes would be taken from her back and she would be forced to stoop over a chair while a strap was applied to her naked flesh either by the cult leader or her own husband.

She was imprisoned in the cult headquarters in September, 1921, and did not succeed in her efforts to escape until September, 1924, it is stated.

SCRUTINY BORES SUSPECTS

Two Lines of Men Face Each Other at 'Show-Up' When Citizens Seek to Identify Aggressors, But Prisoners are Less Perturbed Than Those Looking Them Over

Two lines of men faced one another at police headquarters yesterday—one, impassive, silent, motionless; the other, moving, searching, ill at ease.

The occasion was the so-called "show-up" when citizens of Los Angeles who have been robbed of their possessions were requested by the police to appear and identify the aggressors from among the perpetual array of suspects. But, strangely enough, the fourteen men lined against the wall, dressed as when arrested, in all varieties of attire, had the monopoly on the unconcern.

Edward J. Ketchum, said to have confessed to a lengthy list of local robberies, came in for the major share of the attention. For one of the thirteen identifications made, eleven were of him—many after considerable hesitancy.

"Sure, I remember them a slight better than they do me," he declared. "Why, I ate breakfast in the dining room of the restaurant after a job and the man didn't even remember me."

There were few women in the searching line yesterday; two or three, in comparison with more than 150 men. They made no identifications.

"A fellow sort of hates robbing women. Never can tell what they will do," suggested Ketchum. "They are just as apt to grab your arm as to scream. Figure you won't shoot them, I guess. And usually they get away with it."

"And they remember faces better than most men. They don't get so excited, usually. Partly because they think they will be treated better. Sort of take that for granted."

Under the direction of Assistant Captain of Detectives Cato, Officers Hamren, Reavis, Evans and Davis are handling the Ketchum case.

In addition to Ketchum, the only other identification made was of Toby Bruno, charged with holding up a taxicab.

Though the men from the cells are singled out by a type, the others are widely assorted. Apparently members of the "stick-em-up" fraternity have an unwritten law that they shall play no favorites.

Two college boys—with the swagger that goes only with a lettered athletic sweat—were determined storekeeper—a lit, angular negro, under the misapprehension that she must visit her husband under these unsatisfactory conditions—more than a scattering of spruce business men, real estate, bonds, what not—two spruce youngsters, not college, not business—a low-voiced Filipino—a thrilling comedian in a blue cretonne, demanding that "Johnny" be allowed to make the inspection with her—it was rather an endless parade.

And Ketchum, chief actor in the "I-remember-you" drama, only uttered at the concluding "That's him!"

"What difference does it make— they get away with it?" he queried quite reasonably. "I'll take full credit for all of them."

TO RELOCATE HIGHWAY

Madison and Fresno counties have been formally requested by the California Highway Commission to condemn a right of way for the relocation of section of the San Joaquin Valley trunk highway near Herndon. The new location will be about two miles from the present location and will cross the San Joaquin River, eliminating two dangerous grade crossings of the Southern Pacific.
